AMERICAN AUTO CREW IS AT VLADIVOSTOK

Expect to Start Trip Across Siberia in Thomas Car To-morrow.

OFFICIALS WELCOME THEM

Roads Are Heavy, but Weather Is Now Excellent—Hundreds of Telegrams from Americans in the Orient.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES from Staff Correspondent with the Racers.

VLADIVOSTOK, May 18.—The American automobilists in the New York to Paris race reached here this morning after a two-days' run across the Sea of Japan on the steamship Mongolia, leaving Tsuruga on Saturday afternoon. It will scarcely be possible for the Thomas car to start on the road across Siberia before Wednesday morning, as there are various matters to arrange before the car can begin its trip.

Customs delays will fill the best part of two days, and the autoists desire to obtain permits to carry firearms and to use the rails of the Trans-Siberian Railroad to cross bridges or when the road is impassable. It is expected that the Russian officials will extend both privileges to them, as they have already been instructed to facilitate the passage of the racing cars in every way possible.

The gasoline supply has been cachéd between Vladivostok and Irkutsk by the Russian committee through the Nobel Oil Company, and there will be no difficulty on this score. Reports concerning the road conditions are not so satisfactory, however. Heavy rains have prevailed along the route, especially in Manchuria, and the roads are reported to be virtual quagmires in various places. The weather is excellent now, however, and the Americans hope the road conditions will improve steadily under the influence of sun and wind.

The crew of the racing car have received hundreds of letters and telegrams from Americans located at various Japanese and Chinese ports and even as far away as the Philippines wishing them all success in their contest, and congratulating them on the splendid victories already achieved. There was a small delegation of compatriots to receive them here, while officialdom in the city has extended every courtesy possible.

The car was disembarked from the steamer this afternoon, and is now an object of great curiosity to all the residents of the city. Every one says—so Capt. Hansen declares, and he is the only one able to speak or understand Russian in our party—it is the trimmest car in the race, and one look at it is sufficient to explain the big advantage it obtained in the race across the American Continent. The car is in splendid shape, and, George Schuester declares, will be able to give as good an account of itself in Siberia as it did in America.

PITTSBURG'S BANK LOSS.

Probably $1,000,000 of City's Funds Cannot Be Recovered.

Special to The New York Times.

PITTSBURG, Penn., May 18.—The Allegheny National Bank of Pittsburg did not open its doors this morning, and the Controller this forenoon named James Lyon of Washington, D. C., as receiver to relieve Bank Examiner William L. Folds, who was appointed temporary receiver when the Controller ordered the bank to remain closed to-day. It is admitted to-night that the defalcations of Cashier William Montgomery up to date reach $2,105,000, and that the end is not yet.

Late this afternoon the City of Pittsburg entered suits against bondsmen to recover $1,000,000 of city money, which was in the ruined bank. There was over $1,500,000 of the city's money there, but $500,000 was not bonded. It is feared the city will be able to recover only $500,000 of the lost money.

City Treasurer John F. Steel made a formal demand on the bank this morning for the city deposits, and the State Treasurer made a demand for the State's funds. Both demands were refused.

Both the City and State Treasurers say to-night that National aBnk Examiner Folds would not permit them to take any money from the bank during the time efforts were being made to save it from going under. They say the Examiner threatened instant closure of the institution if either of them made a withdrawal.

Folds told them, they say, that friends of Montgomery, the defaulting cashier, would make up the deficit, and all would be well.

NEW AMSTERDAM TO PAY

25 Per Cent. to Depositors This Week or Next and the Balance Later.

Controller of the Currency Murray has directed the receiver of the New Amsterdam National Bank to pay to the depositors of that institution, which closed early in the year, a portion of their money, and either toward the end of this week or at the beginning of next week 25 per cent. of the more than $2,000,000 of deposits will be paid out.

This news will bring cheer to hundreds of theatrical people who are out of engagements. The New Amsterdam was much patronized by actors and actresses. Caruso, the singer, is understood to have had $40,000 in the institution when it closed.

"The news came out prematurely," said an official of the bank last night, "but a part payment is to be made this week or next. Better still, it is absolutely assured that every dollar of the deposits will be paid in full. This can be counted on."

Sufficient of the securities of the bank have been disposed of to warrant the payment of 25 per cent. of the deposits. This, it is said, will in no way interfere with a scheme of reorganization and a resumption of business at the old banking quarters, in the Metropolitan Opera House building.

RUSH THE STRAW HAT SEASON.

Many Men Wear Them and the June 15 Tradition Is Shattered.

Throwing conventions to the four winds, New Yorkers yesterday took advantage of the Summer day and appeared in straw hats. The tradition that straw hats shall not be worn before June 15 was ignored by many courageous citizens, and in the hotels straws and Panamas were shown so frequently that they ceased to attract attention.

This departure may be accounted for by the premature heat and the fact that the wearer of Summer headgear could point to the many well-dressed men who wore "straws" at Belmont Park on Metropolitan Handicap day.

Statistics in the hotels verified the belief that the silly notion about the date on which straw hats become "legal" had been scouted and the comfort on the faces of the straw hat brigade caused some doubters to rush for their last Summer's headgear, and others made their way to the hat shops in Fifth Avenue and Broadway, which were well patronized, and many men exchanged their rusty derbies for the new straw hat and sallied forth.

The Fifth Avenue district boasted more straw hatters than any other thoroughfare, but downtown derbies were worn with only a few exceptions. The curb brokers did not dare wear "straws" owing to the inevitable "guying," and those who came to town with Summer hats left them in their offices for safety. In the hotels the following straw hats were registered by the coat-rack boys:

The Plaza, 45; the Waldorf-Astoria, 50; Hotel Knickerbocker, 38; Hotel Astor, 35; Hotel Manhattan, 36; Café Martin, 30; Hotel St. Regis, 15; Holland House, 25, and Hotel Belmont, 28.

TORPEDO BOAT IN COLLISION.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWPORT, May 18.—The Stiletto, the oldest torpedo boat in the navy, was run into this morning by the torpedo station's steam launch Breakers and was so badly damaged that it was necessary to beach her. She lay on the Newport sands all the afternoon with a large hole amidships on the port side, but this evening she was towed to the torpedo station for repairs.

There was no loss of life, thanks to the good seamanship of Gunner William T. Baxter, who was in command of the Stiletto. Baxter was taking a party of gunners up Narragansett Bay for exercise, a number of whom were seated in a launch which his vessel was towing. The Breakers suddenly rounded the lighthouse at the north end of the torpedo station and ran head on into the torpedo boat. Baxter at once turned loose the launch he was towing and gave his attention to saving the Stiletto and the men aboard of her.

He instantly headed the vessel for the mainland of Newport, half a mile away, and ordered the engineer to crowd on all steam. Then he ordered the gunners to move over to the starboard side, and by thus placing their weight he lifted the port side of the vessel sufficiently to check considerably the inrush of the sea into the fireroom.

But there was no great margin of safety. The engine room filled with water so rapidly that the engines were stopped a minute or two before the vessel reached the beach.

Baxter has been highly complimented to-night on his coolness and his doing the right thing at the right moment to save his vessel and the lives of his men.

EDDYITES WORK OVER DEAD.

Spend Five Days Trying to Resurrect Frank J. Carpenter at Biltmore.

Special to The New York Times.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., May 18.—For five days Christian Scientists demonstrated over the dead body of Frank J. Carpenter, a wealthy citizen, formerly of Savannah, Ga., to brnig the body back to life. The Carpenters had been occupying one of the Vanderbilt villas at Biltmore, and were devout Christian Scientists. When the husband died last Wednesday his wife refused to allow the body to be removed, and when undertakers came to the house by order of the doctors she drove them away. She declared that her husband was not dead.

She sent for Christian Scientists, and declared her husband wanted to "speak to her." After several days, and all efforts had failed by the Christian Scientists to resurrect her husband, Mrs. Carpenter shut herself up alone with the body. Carpenter's body was spirited away by a trained nurse and an undertaker, while Mrs. Carpenter was asleep, and embalmed.

She was notified that she could not remain at the Biltmore villa longer with the body, and, ordernig a coffin, Mrs. Carpenter accompanied the body to Savannah, still declaring that her husband was not dead.

Mrs. Carpenter declared that one of her dearest friends, whom the doctors declared dead, was not dead, but had been resurrected by Christian Scientists.

CLERGYMAN KILLS WIFE.

Says He Was Momentarily Insane and Surrenders to Police.

FAIRMONT, West Va., May 18.—Temporarily insane, according to his own statement, the Rev. S. A. Coffman, aged 50 years, a prominent Methodist Episcopal clergyman, killed his wife early to-day by cutting her throat. A moment after the crime, he says, he regained his senses and realized what he had done. He surrendered himself and was locked up.

The Rev. Mr. Coffman is in charge of two or three local churches. His wife was a member of a prominent local family and was 33 years of age. For a week or two he has been conducting revival services. Yesterday he finished his revival. About midnight he and his wife were discussing the services, when he suddenly seized a poker and began striking her on the head.

There was a struggle, during which Mrs. Coffman succeeded in escaping from the house to a garden at the rear. He followed her closely, however, and another fight for her life took place. When she was overpowered, Coffman, who had snatched up a knife when he followed his wife, cut her throat.

Mr. Coffman says it had been his intention to kill not only his wife, but also his family and himself.

ROOSEVELT FAVORS ANTI-GAMBLING BILLS

HUGHES WAITS FOR FOELKER

Also for Wallace to Take His Seat Before Sending in Recommendation—Foelker Out in Three Weeks.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, N. Y., May 18.—President Roosevelt is in favor of the abolition of race-track gambling, and has so expressed himself to persons who have visited him within the last few days. This statement was made by Senator Agnew, who introduced the anti-race-track gambling bills in the upper house upon his return to the Capitol to-day. Senator Agnew said to the correspondent of THE NEW YORK TIMES: "One of my constituents has lately had a talk with the President in relation to conditions in the Empire State. In the course of this conversation the President expressed himself strongly in favor of the anti-race-track gambling bills.

"I understand that he considers that race-track gambling will be the issue in the campaign in this State next Fall unless the special session of the Legislature takes appropriate action in accordance with the explicit mandates of the Constitution."

Some Republican Senators who learned of the statement made by Senator Agnew declared that if word to this effect should go out from Washington to the leaders in this State, it would settle the fate of the postponed race track legislation in a hurry and assure victory, not by a narrow majority, but virtually by a party vote.

Both the Senate and Assembly met to-night. In neither house was there a quorum present. The session did not last more than five minutes.

The Governor did not send to the Legislature to-night the recommendation for legislation to abolish race-track gambling. It is now understood that the recommendation will not go in this week, and in all probability not until both Senator Foelker of Brooklyn, who is slowly recovering from an operation he has undergone for appendicitis, and William C. Wallace, the Senator elected from the Niagara-Orleans district, are in their seats. As things look now, both their votes would be essential to success, and the Governor is taking no chances.

Senator Agnew paid a visit to-day to Senator Foelker at the home of his father-in-law, Frederick Bodenstein, at Staatsburg, N. Y. Mr. Agnew was permitted to see him only for a minute.

To the correspondent for THE NEW YORK TIMES who visited Staatsburg Dr. Murphy said:

"I regard Senator Foelker's condition as very satisfactory, considering everything. He is out of danger unless complications should set in."

"Do you expect Senator Foelker to be on his feet again next week and able to attend to his legislative duties at Albany?" Dr. Murphy was asked.

"It would be impossible to answer that question now," the doctor replied. "I should hardly think so, though. It will probably require more time than that for him to pick up sufficient strength."

Senator Agnew said that he understood the Senator might be about again in three weeks.

Secretary of State Whalen to-day issued a call for the State Board of Canvassers to meet on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock to canvass tne vote in the Niagara-Orleans district.

A bill was introduced in the Assembly to-day identical with a measure introduced in the upper house last week by Senator Page, providing for a system of registration whereby voters can be more readily identified. Another bill, providing for a decrease in the number of voters in an election district from 500 to 400, was also introduced.

Assemblyman Cuvillier of New York tried to introduce a resolution calling upon Gov. Hughes to submit all the recommendations he contemplates making to the special session forthwith, but was choked off.

Gov. Hughes to-day signed the bill appropriating $250,000 of the money in the State Treasury received from the racing associations for agricultural fair purposes.

JOB FOR SENATOR'S RELATIVE?

Report That Jockey Club Is Paymaster for Gilchrist's Half Brother.

Brooklyn racegoing folk and politicians were interested yesterday in a report to the effect that Walter Kay, a half-brother of Senator Alfred J. Gilchrist, had obtained a job from The Jockey Club. Kay is said to have been seen at Belmont Park last week working at $10 a day as a "watcher" of bookmakers under John Cavanagh, who supervises the betting ring. Kay formerly worked at a trade.

At the home of Senator Gilchrist a woman who said she was Mrs. Gilchrist said that the Senator had a half-brother named Walter Kay.

"If he has a job at the race track, I don't know anything about it," she added.

MAYOR DRIVES TROLLEY CAR.

He Inaugurates the Service Across Williamsburg Bridge Into Subway.

Mayor McClellan acted as motorman yesterday afternoon on the special car which inaugurated the new trolley service across the Williamsburg Bridge into the Subway station built at the Manhattan end of the bridge, from which the Subway trains on the loop connecting the Williamsburg and Manhattan Bridges will run. Controller Metz, Bridge Commissioner Stevenson, Chief Engineer Ingersoll, Kingsley L. Martin, and Vice President J. L. Calderwood of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit were of the official party.

"There's a job waiting for you in Brooklyn any time you want it," Mr. Calderwood of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company assured the Mayor. "I'll send you a certificate as an expert motorman to-morrow."

In the new Subway station a separate entrance and exit, plainly marked, are provided for each of the eight lines of cars. The crowd will be split up into sections and the congestion will be greatly relieved. Trains from the Brooklyn elevated station may be running into the Subway station by the end of June.

BOLD PROBLEM PLAY HERE.

Shuberts Negotiating for Production of Wederkind's Berlin Success.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, May 18.—If negotiations now pending between the management of the Deutsches Theater of Berlin and the Shuberts of New York terminate successfully New Yorkers will have the privilege of witnessing a bolder and more startling theatrical production than has ever been before attempted on an American stage.

The negotiations concern Frank Wedekind's "Fruehlings Erwacher," ("Awakening of Spring,") a problem play which purports to teach the necessity of instructing children concerning questions of sex.

The action of the piece, which is now having its second year's run in the Berlin and other German theatres, leaves exceedingly little to the imagination. In comparison with it "Mrs. Warren's Profession" is quite above criticism. The Shuberts seem to think the morals of New York and the views of the New York police have undergone a change since Mr. Shaw's play was banned.

I understand they have offered to guarantee Director Reinhard of the Deutsches Theater receipts of $800 a night for every New York performance.

Possibly for the purpose of mystifying the police it is planned to put on the piece in New York in German.

HOTEL GUESTS POISONED.

Mistake in Prescription Kills South American Planter—His Wife Ill.

From what is supposed to have been a mistaken prescription Eto Eraso, a South American planter, who with his wife and a family party of seven were stopping at the Victoria Hotel, Broadway and Twenty-seventh Street, was poisoned late last night, and died later at the hotel. He was from Caracas, Venezuela.

Eraso was 40 years old. He and his wife were both poisoned, but the wife responded to treatment.

Dr. S. Wesly Smith of 7 West Twenty-sixth Street, the hotel physician, was called in immediately, and he pronounced the cases to be of atropine poisoning.

According to what Dr. Smith learned, Mr. Eraso sent out to a drug store for some sparteine, a vegetable heart stimulant, which the South Americans had been in the habit of using when in their own country.

Instead of that, however, they evidently received, the doctor said, some atropine, and he thought it must have been a strong solution of that powerful poison.

Dr. Smith administered a powerful antidote to both victims. The remedy seemed to take action immediately upon the woman. With the men, however, the poison had evidently taken stronger effect, or else he had taken more of it and he died at an early hour this morning.

Coroner Acritelli was notified of the death by Dr. Smith, who refused to give a death certificate until the police and Coroner had investigated the affair.

KAISER BREAKS ENGAGEMENT.

Important State Business Keeps Him from Lunching with Princes.

FRANKFORT, May 18.—Emperor William was to take luncheon to-day with the leading nobility of the province, and about 100 noblemen assembled for the occasion.

While the Princes were awaiting the appearance of his Majesty the Imperial Adjutant, Gen. von Scholl, appeared and said the Emperor greatly regretted that he could not be present at the luncheon. Prince von Buelow, he explained, had asked for an audience of Emperor William on important business of State, and his Majesty and the Chancellor were then in close conference.

WIESBADEN, May 18.—Prince von Buelow, at noon to-day, had a private audience of the Emperor of more than an hour's duration. Great curiosity is shown among the members of the imperial entourage, as the Emperor on this account gave up a luncheon which he had intended taking with the nobles at Frankfort so as to finish this conference with the Chancellor.

GIRL PLUNGES TO HER DEATH.

Body of Miss Crosby of Oxford Plains, Mass., Found Under Hotel Window.

Miss Emma N. Crosby, a guest who had arrived at the Abingdon Square Hotel on Sunday night, was found dead under the window of her room on the concrete pavement four stories below. She wore only a nightdress.

Whether the woman committed suicide or fell out of the window while walking in her sleep, or while looking out of the window, is not known. There was nothing in her room to indicate that she had intended to kill herself.

Two letters, supposed to be from the woman's mother and from her brother, "Vance," and a postal card addressed to "Miss Emma N. Crosby, Charlton Street, Oxford Plains, Mass.," and postmarked "Oxford Plains, Mass.," which was signed "Aunt, Uncle, and Cousin George," were the only things, besides the woman's clothes and a wicker suitcase, found in the room.

ATTACK WOMAN IN STREET.

Two Men of a Gang Arrested After Trying to Run Away.

While walking through West Forty-first Street last night Miss Marion Gray of 319 West Nineteenth Street was attacked by several men. The young woman succeeded in keeping her assailants at bay for several minutes, when a policeman came to her rescue. Two men were arrested.

Policeman Carman caught a man who started to run away from the place, and Richard Johnson of 600 Eleventh Avenue, who had witnessed the struggle, caught and held another man who started to run. They were taken to the West Thirty-seventh Street Station, where they gave their names as Joseph Kelly, 18 years old, an ironworker, living at 364 West Forty-third Street, and Daniel Dolan, 22 years old, of 550 West Forty-seventh Street.

TWO CARS DYNAMITED IN CLEVELAND STRIKE

Six Passengers Were Slightly Injured and Cars Lifted from Track.

CONSTANT RIOTING ALL DAY

Trolley Wires Cut and Car Crews Assaulted — Attempt to Arbitrate Strike Fails.

Special to The New York Times.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, May 18.—Dynamiting has been resorted to in the Cleveland street car strike. One car was practically wrecked to-night and another lifted from the tracks.

Six passengers were slightly injured and cut in one car, and the lives of many people were placed in jeopardy. The attempts to blow up street cars were the culmination of a day and eevning of incessant rioting and general disorder. The climax was reached at 10:15 o'clock.

A Broadway car running east hit a dynamite cap at Pittsburg Avenue and East Thirty-fourth Street. The explosion came with such terrific force that the car was lifted into the air and dropped. The concussion nearly deafened the twenty-five passengers.

Trolley wires were cut, dynamite caps put on the tracks, light wires grounded, portions of the city plunged into darkness, and assaults made upon street car crews and passengers during the day and night.

Some shooting was indulged in, but no one was injured. A mob held up two cars on Madison Avenue, near West Seventy-third Street. The motormen and conductors were assaulted, and the passengers attacked with bricks and stones. Several were hurt by the missiles and broken glass.

Despite the violence, a strong effort is being made to obtain arbitration. At midnight President Mahon of the International Union of Street Car Employes and President Dupont of the street car company held a conference. The only bar to instant cessation of hostilities is the inability to agree on formal articles that will govern arbitration.

The men, however, are willing to waive certain claims, and it is believed the strike will be settled within forty-eight hours.

150 STRIKERS ARRESTED.

Sheriff and His Posse Capture Troublemakers on Long Island.

PORT WASHINGTON, L. I., May 18.—Determined to put an end to the trouble the strikers have been making hereabouts, Sheriff Foster, Deputy Sheriff Hulse, and about 100 deputies and several Pinkerton men this morning swooped down on them, and after bagging about 150 of them, started with them for Justice of the Peace Charles R. Weeks's court, in Liberty Hall.

The prisoners, all of whom are Italians, were compelled to march two abreast through the street to the hall. The deputies, with drawn revolvers, walked on either side of the prisoners and were ready to shoot at the first sign of resistance. The prisoners, evidently cowed by the sight of the revolvers, made no attempt to get away.

Sheriff Foster, who has been here a week trying to keep the strikers from interfering with the men who took their places at the sand works, determined to put a stop to all violence on the part of the strikers.

HORSES HOLD UP TRAINS.

PERTH AMBOY, N. J., May 18.—Both north and south bound trains were held up on the Pennsylvania tracks near Port Reading for several hours this morning by four horses which had become fast in the newly constructed trestle just north of the Port Reading crossing. The four animals were held between the ties, three on the north-bound track and one on the south-bound rails.

Passengers aboard a train bound for this city about 7 o'clock this morning, among whom were two local men, had to get out and, with ropes, help haul out the horse which stalled their train. The animal was a heavy truck horse, and had all four legs wedged in the ties. After nearly half an hour's strenuous work the horse was liberated and the train continued.

The three animals on the north-bound track proved more troublesome to the railroad company. They were not freed so easily, and, as a result, there was a serious delay in train service. Some of the local passengers who commute to New York, Elizabeth, and other points walked to the nearest Central Railroad station in order to arrive at their destination. The three horses were finally removed.

SAW PORPOISES ON THE WING.

Bo's'n's Mate Gives a Veracious Account of a Playful Waterspout.

A story of a waterspout which broke up a porpoise parade was brought to port yesterday by the steamer Suriname. The vessel came from the West Indies and the story was told by the bo's'n's mate. He said the waterspout passed the vessel on Saturday, between Sombrero Light and Watling's Island. It passed so close that it gave the vessel a decided lurch.

"'Way off," he continued, "there was a school of porpoise passing to the starboard of the vessel. I don't know how long the parade was, but the paraders, two deep and surrounded by flying fish, had been passing for five hours, when suddenly comes the waterspout.

"It just followed that line of march, beginning at the rear, and continuing up to the commander, a tough looking old porpoise. As it went along it scooped up the fish until the air was full of them.

"You know, when a porpoise dies, it displays a beautiful change of colors, so when I tell you that the sky to starboard was so full of dying porpoise that we thought there was a rainbow, you will know that scientific facts bear out the story, and you will know this is no dream."

Here the truthful old salt called three mates to bear witness to the truth of his story, and the searchers after marine knowledge hiked.

$1,000,000 LOST IN CORN.

Armour and Others Squeezed When Patten Forces Price Up to 76.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, May 18.—A new record price for May corn was reached to-day—76 cents. This is the highest ever known for May corn, and the highest price that that grain has commanded since 1902.

The price was forced up on the Chicago Board of Trade to-day, when James A. Patten, in a spectacular deal squeezed J. Ogden Armour. A million or more is said to have been lost by Armour and others in the effort to break the Patten corner and cover shortage. J. Brandt Walker, who recently won a fortune in Wall Street, is also said to have been a loser.

The shorts, of whom Armour and Walker are the leaders, with thousands of others caught in the corner, tried to find grain to-day to make up their delinquencies. Patten not only held the market firm at the opening, but as the scramble to buy grain came forced the price up.

The pit was in the wildest confusion when the closing hour came. Many men who had taken the bear side were said to be on the verge of losing their fortunes.

The trading was limited because of the lack of grain. Patten would not sell and the shorts could not buy.

ROCKEFELLER ABHORS WASTE

Spends $2,000 Rather Than Not Utilize Two Feet of Space.

Special to The New York Times.

TARRYTOWN, N. Y., May 18.—Rather than have two feet of waste space above the ice box in his new home, at Pocantico Hills, John D. Rockefeller will spend $2,000 for a larger ice box. Mr. Rockefeller was to-day inspecting the details of his new home, when he found that there were two feet of space between the top of the box and the ceiling not utilized.

"What is that space to be used for?" he inquired. The workman in charge replied: "That is waste space."

Mr. Rockefeller then gave orders to the builders to tear out the icebox and replace it with one that will reach the ceiling. The new box will cost $2,000, and work on it was begun immediately.

DANIEL TO PRESENT JOHNSON.

Many Virginia Democrats Believe He Will Declare for the Minnesotan.

Special to The New York Times.

RICHMOND, Va., May 18.—Political circles are discussing with interest the motive of John W. Daniel, the Virginia Senator, in accepting the invitation to introduce Gov. John Johnson, who will speak in this city Wednesday to the Southern Cotton Manufacturers' Association. Many assert that his acceptance indicates that Daniels, who is an avowed anti-Bryan man, will take this opportunity of launching the candidacy of the Minnesota Democrat before the Democrats of this State.

CENTRAL ORDERS 2,000 CARS.

Big Increase in Freight Business Is Expected Soon.

Special to The New York Times.

PITTSBURG, May 18.—Two thousand steel cars have been ordered by the New York Central Railroad for its Pittsburg and Lake Erie Division. The order had been placed with the Standard Steel Car Company last Summer, and the cars were to be delivered last Fall. The order was held up by the tight money market.

A Pittsburg & Lake Erie official says the cars cannot be delivered too soon, as indications are that a rapid revival is coming, and many railroads will be caught unawares when called upon for cars.

Declared Forgeries by Platt and Contained References to the Senator's Affairs and His Sons.

For over four hours yesterday Mae C. Wood, lawyer, school teacher, Government servant, newspaper woman, and self-styled wife of United States Senator Thomas Collier Platt, the seventy-four-year-old senior representative of this State in the Senate, matched her wits against those of John B. Stanchfield, counsel for Mr. Platt, in the suit which she has brought against the Senator for absolute divorce. At the end of the day's proceedings she was still fighting hard in her cause, with evasive replies and asides. The case is being heard before Justice O'Gorman in the Supreme Court.

In her complaint Miss Wood set forth that she was married to Senator Platt at the Fifth Avenue Hotel, this city, on Nov. 9, 1901, and she asks for a divorce on the ground of the defendant's marriage to Lillian Janeway in October, 1903. In support of her marriage contention, she recently filed with the County Clerk the alleged marriage certificate, and a number of letters from the aged Senator bearing on the marriage. Since these were filed, Senator Platt in an affidavit submitted to the court, declares the certificate and letters are forgeries.

Mae C. Wood is 42 years old. She is a small, determined looking woman, and although she confessed to Mr. Stanchfield that she gave up the legal profession because she found there was not enough money in it, her answers showed a keen knowledge of the law, which sometimes nettled and disconcerted the lawyer. She wore a costume of black and gray striped cloth. On her nose perched eyeglasses, which she frequently toyed with when giving a particularly irrelevant answer.

At the opening of the trial Charles Le Barbier, her counsel, at once put her on the stand. She testified that she first met Senator Platt in April, 1901. From that time forward she said she frequently saw him at the Fifth Avenue Hotel and at his office, 49 Broadway. It was in August, 1901, that the aged Senator proposed to her. They were sitting on the veranda of a Manhattan Beach hotel, she said. At that time she gave him no definite answer, but in the following November he renewed his suit, and she accepted him.

This was at the Fifth Avenue Hotel. Later he told her of his desire for a secret marriage.

"You know, I am an old man, and people will make fun of me," she testified he gave as the excuse for a secret wedding.

She agreed to this, and later received from Senator Platt a letter the text of which she said was:

> My Little Bride to Be: I have made all arrangements. You are not to say anything to anybody nor do anything but obey implicitly my instructions. You are to be here at 4 o'clock sharp. I inclose a card for you to give the hotel clerk, who will look after you and show you to Room 158. You need not register.
>
> I will care for you when everything is ready, as per inclosed card. Please do not keep us waiting. I am an old fool, but you shall never regret the step, for you shall be as free as you are until the proper time comes. Believe me, lovingly, TOM.

Describes Secret Marriage to Platt.

When asked by Mr. Stanchfield if she had the original of this letter the witness said that Abraham H. Hummel and J. Martin Miller took it from her, with other papers, on Oct. 13, 1903.

On the day set for the wedding, the plaintiff said, she went to the Fifth Avenue Hotel. She was shown to Senator Platt's room, and found him there. He embraced her, and then two men came in. One of them said to her, "Do you take this man to be your husband?" She replied she did. Then he asked Senator Platt a similar question, with the same result. All this time, she said, the Senator was holding her hand, and at the conclusion slipped a wedding ring on her finger. One of the men was then introduced to her, she testified, as the Rev. Mr. Rice.

"Did you believe that the ceremony was a valid one?" asked Mr. Le Barbier.

"I most certainly did," she replied. "Why, after the two men had left the room the Senator sat down on a sofa beside me, called me 'Baby,' and gave me the marriage certificate."

She testified that she lived with the Senator for two days. During that time he begged her not to make the marriage known, as his candidacy for the Senate was near at hand, besides which, he said, people would call him an "old fool." A copy of a letter which she swore she received from the Senator, dated July 2, 1902, was read. It ran:

> Dear Cathy: I have been thinking of you and wondering how you are breasting the world alone. I am so miserable. I send you a book of franks. I did not think it wise to provide a pass. It is too frank and open. Sincerely yours, T. C. P.

The plaintiff testified that she received many letters from Senator Platt, but that Mr. Hummel got them all from her on Oct. 13, 1903, and that she had subsequently demanded the return of them from him, but he had refused to give them up. Other letters which she identified as receiving from Senator Platt were then read. One, dated September, 1903, ran:

> My dear, dearest May, June-November's bride: I wrote you yesterday not to expect too much from me in the way of writing these days on account of campaign matters. You are undoubtedly among many good friends and seem to be enjoying yourself. I want you to tell them all that you know a man back East by the name of Tom Platt, who is looking after your future, so they need not worry about you anyway. It pleased me to have you send the things on Pass No. 1, but you will have to be careful of that when you get back East. When you are regularly recognized as an officer of the company you shall have No. 2. Lovingly yours, T. C. P.
>
> P. S.—I am sending this to Military Avenue, care of Mrs. Long, and will send them all there hereafter, as per yours received to-day. I note what you say regarding the unholy curiosity of Government people in general and the Post Office Department in particular.

Another letter dated Washington, November, 1901, read:

> My Dear Little One: Yours received. It is so bright and original it cheered me up so I am almost reconciled to Odell's election. You needn't worry about my children; they will not interfere with you. They are real nice anyway. I gave them to understand from the start that I am the boss, and they are all taken care of. My first wife had managed to save up a little money and when she died it was left to be equally divided between the boys and myself. I told them I would not touch a penny of it and turned my share right over to the boys.

For many years Frank has received an income of $100,000 a year as counsel, &c., for corporations whose interests I look after. Harry married a rich wife, and his company received a large sum from the loaning of the New York State Canal funds, (some $3,000,000,) which it controls, and if I am re-elected, as I now intend to be, this will still remain under my control. Edward is taken care of in the United States Express, so that I feel that I have the right to have the liberty to do as I please the rest of my life, and I love you, you, you, and send you a thousand kisses for the one you sent me and a thousand times as fervent.

Always lovingly, yours, faithfully yours, &c., TOM.

A large photograph of Senator Platt was then introduced in evidence. On it was written "My darling little wife." The witness explained that the Senator gave it to her one day, and while she sat on his lap she held his hand while together they wrote the inscription.

Mr. Stanchfield then took the witness in hand. She said she had been married to Albert S. Wood, but was divorced from him. She testified that she had done reportorial work on The Omaha Bee, had been admitted a member of the Nebraska bar, but ceased practicing in 1899, and that she had also engaged in school teaching. Numerous letters in the handwriting of Senator Platt and also her own were shown to her. She was asked to identify them. In some cases she disclaimed the authorship of those alleged to be in her own handwriting, or else fell back on an evasive reply. She appeared much surprised as letter after letter was shown her, and frequently exclaimed to Mr. Stanchfield, "How did you get hold of them?" The lawyer did not satisfy her curiosity, although promising to do so before the end of the trial.

Questioned About Dates.

She was then questioned about a suit she brought in Omaha against Robert J. Wynne, William Loeb, and others, charging conspiracy against her, and was also asked how she reconciled her statement that she was married to Senator Platt in 1901, when two years after that date, as was stated in the complaint, which was read, she was engaged to be married to him. The plaintiff gave no direct reply.

She testified that she was employed for some time in the Post Office Department at Washington, and for six weeks worked as a stenographer for the New York Central Railroad. She denied that she had ever retained a law firm of Richmond, Va., to bring an action against Senator Platt, and when Mr. Stanchfield read a letter written by them to Platt stating that they had so been retained, in connection with an alleged breach of promise of marriage on his part, the plaintiff said she never authorized the law firm to write such a letter.

In October, 1903, the plaintiff said, she came to the Victoria Hotel, New York. There she met a man named J. Martin Miller, a Secret Service man, who took her down to Howe & Hummel's office. She declared that Miller arrested her. Asked to explain what she meant, she said that Miller showed her his badge and said:

"You are up against a pretty hard proposition and had better do as you are told. You had better give up all the Platt papers."

On this, the witness said that, accompanied by Miller, she took all her Platt papers and went to Hummel's office. She denied that she ever retained Hummel to bring suit against Platt, or that she authorized him to write a letter stating this to Platt. Mr. Stanchfield showed her a receipt dated Oct. 14, 1903. It read: "Received this day the sum of $10,000 in settlement. Mae C. Wood."

"I did not receive that amount from Hummel," she retorted, but admitted writing anything that she was ordered to by Hummel, saying that she knew it would be worthless, because she wrote under duress. Hummel, she said, got all her papers.

At this stage the examination was adjourned until to-day. Senator Platt was not present in court at any time.

MRS. LEVEE IN SECLUSION.

Refuses to See Her Aeronaut Husband When He Calls at Her Hotel.

Mrs. Charles E. Levee, who as Miss Jennie Hawley married the well-known aeronaut a few months ago, is in seclusion in a room on the fourteenth floor of the Plaza, and her husband has been denied the privilege of communicating with her. The utmost secrecy concerns the movements of Mrs. Levee and her husband, who returned a short time ago from Europe, where they had gone on their honeymoon. Mrs. Levee's brother, Allan Hawley, opposed the marriage, and brought suit against his sister for $75,000, alleging that this was the sum he had expended on her education and travel.

Since the return of Mr. and Mrs. Levee they have been leading a nomadic life in the hotels and going out of town over the week-end. On Saturday Mr. Levee went to Lakewood, N. J., where Mrs. Levee was expected on a later train. When Mrs. Levee failed to join her husband he tried 'phoning to the Plaza, but was told she was not there. When convinced that there was small chance of her returning to Lakewood he returned to New York and called at the Plaza. He was again told that Mrs. Levee was not in the hotel, but at that moment she was in her room.

DAY NURSERY BABIES ON VIEW

They Give an Exhibition and Sing Songs at Mothers' Exposition.

Day nursery babies in pink pinafores and little graduates of the nurseries who now attend afternoon classes, gave an exhibition of day nursery work at the Mothers' Exposition at the Madison Square Garden last evening, and Mrs. Arthur Dodge, President of the Association of Day Nurseries, told what the workers were doing.

The babies and their older little brothers and sisters sang and danced, the older children standing in the rear for the songs while the little pink pinafores were in front.

The children sang, "Why Does a Duck Go Quack, Quack, Quack?" the little ones joining heartily in the applause when every one else clapped, and they closed the exercises by singing the "Night Hymn" they sing every day at the nursery. It is in the nature of a prayer, and the children closed their eyes solemnly all but little three-and-one-half-year-old Italian Mary, who could not help peeking at times, and little Theresa didn't pretend to close her eyes at all.

BRYAN IS HOPEFUL OF PARTY'S SUCCESS

Will Win Even in Pennsylvania When Leaders There Reform, He Says.

QUOTES CLEVELAND VICTORY

Says Similar Conditions Prevail Now—Asked Whether He'll Be Nominated, He Says "That Remains to be Seen."

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, May 18.—William Jennings Bryan came to this city to-night to address a peace conference. He was asked to state his views on the political situation generally and with reference to the fight of independent Democrats to obtain Bryan instructions for the Pennsylvania National delegates at the State Convention at Harrisburg on Wednesday. He said:

"As soon as we can get the Democratic Party organization of this State in sympathy with the masses we shall win even in Pennsylvania.

"I must avoid personalities or too minute local comment, but the difficulty here and elsewhere is that the Democrats in control of the party organization have not always shown by any outward and visible signs a difference between their principles and methods and those which govern the men who control the Republican organization. But I do not despair. Locally and Nationally the lines of demarkation between Republican principles and Republican methods grow more distinct and reveal more truly the sympathy of the men and the measures of true democracy with the masses. With every such advance the prospect brightens.

"So far as any personal interest I may have in the contest is concerned I would prefer to say nothing. And I cannot with propriety discuss the very interesting situation among our friends, the enemy.

"But so far as the outlook for Democracy in the country at large is concerned, I think it is good. Democratic ideas have grown in strength, and the appalling disclosures which have followed investigations of many kinds have shown above everything how completely the Republican Party is controlled by the predatory interests. I believe the lesson has gone deeply into the hearts and minds of the American people, and the result will be evident next November.

"Industrial unrest was undoubtedly a powerful factor in the election of Grover Cleveland in 1884. To-day we have something of the same situation and added to a greater degree of unrest, there is the moral effect of repeated revelations of Republican alliance with the oppressors of the people. There is, therefore, an added reason why Democracy may hope for victory.

"I believe that the American workman is at last convinced that to throw off the yoke of the 'interests' he must throw off the yoke of the Republican Party, which has made possible and still stands sponsor for their depredations.

"Our strength, on the other hand, lies with the masses, and I believe that we are on the eve of a widespread awakening to the fact that between a party which stands revealed as the agent of predatory interests and a party which stands for the welfare of the masses there can be but one choice for the thinking American citizen—he should ally himself with the Democracy and vote for the candidates whom it shall please the Denver Convention to name."

"Will you be the standard bearer?"

"That remains to be seen," replied Mr. Bryan, smiling broadly.

ALABAMA PROBABLY BRYAN'S.

Incomplete Returns in Primary Election Indicate He Has Beaten Johnson.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., May 18.—Incomplete returns from to-day's primary indicate that William J. Bryan will be supported by the Alabama delegation to the National Convention at Denver.

Early reports show that a large vote was polled for Gov. Johnson in the southern part of the State, while the northern counties favored Bryan.

Gov. Johnson carried the town of Demopolis and the first ward heard from in Birmingham gave Johnson a majority of 63. Early returns indicate Johnson's indorsement by Mobile County.

Bryan will carry Jefferson, the largest county in Alabama, by a safe majority.

BRYAN CLAIMS PENNSYLVANIA

Democratic Convention Opens To-morrow—Judge Gray to Open Quarters.

HARRISBURG, Penn., May 18.—Democrats from every portion of the State are pouring into Harrisburg to-night to attend the State Democratic Convention, which will be held on Wednesday, and the indications are that it will be one of the liveliest held in years. Headquarters have been opened by the Bryan, Gray, and Johnson Leagues.

The Bryan Leaguers to-day claimed the control of the National delegates in the convention, and to-night President Jere S. Black, who just arrived from a conference with Bryan at Philadelphia, asserted that the league would fight for every point in the convention.

The Guffey men say that Bryan's followers will have less than 100 delegates. The Gray League people insist that their candidate will develop strength and say that men claimed for Bryan are for Gray.

The Johnson boomers have refused to make any statements, but assert that they will make themselves felt in the convention.

BRYAN HOLDS WASHINGTON.

Democratic Convention Split on State Problem of Local Option.

SPOKANE, Washington, May 18.—With Bryan men in control, the Democratic State Convention met here to-day under the leadership of ex-United States Senator George Turner, who had been agreed upon as Temporary Chairman.

Absolute harmony on National issues was offset by discord on a State problem—what to say about local option, the Republicans having declared strongly in its favor.

CALIFORNIA FAVORS BRYAN.

Bell Wins Control of the Convention from the Organization Party.

FRESNO, Cal., May 18.—The California Democratic State Convention met to-day, but will not conclude its work before to-morrow.

Theodore A. Bell, Democratic candidate for Governor two years ago, headed the anti-organization wing of the party and won control of the convention.

The sentiment is mostly for William J. Bryan for President.

FIVE TRAINS FOR TAMMANY.

Six Hundred and Fifty Braves Going to Denver—Cost $100,000.

Tammany men have decided to pay the $60 return trip rate to the Denver Democratic Convention. It was announced yesterday that final arrangements had been made for 650 men to go to the convention by five special trains, two of which will be furnished by the New York Central, two by the Pennsylvania, and one by the Erie.

The cost of the trip has been estimated at $150 a man, including railroad fares, sleeping car charges, and meals. This will bring the total expenditures of the delegation up to $100,000 or thereabout.

FOR REPUBLICAN CONVENTION.

Clergymen Selected for Opening Prayers—Five Days' Session.

CHICAGO, May 18.—The Sub-Committee on Arrangements for the Republican National Convention to-day announced that three clergymen had agreed to deliver the opening prayers on the first three days of the convention.

Bishop P. J. Muldoon of the Roman Catholic Church of Chicago will officiate on the opening day. The Rev. William O. Waters of Grace Episcopal Church, Chicago, will deliver the invocation on the second day, and the Rev. John Wesley Hill of the Metropolitan Temple of New York on the third day. The convention is expected to continue for five days, and contracts for music have been made for that time.

WANT CORTELYOU FOR SECOND

New Yorkers Working to Name Him for Vice President.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 18.—Some of the New York friends of Secretary Cortelyou have been subsoiling recently to find out what kind of a response there would be to a suggestion of his name for the Vice Presidential nomination at the Chicago Convention.

The work has been done principally by certain New York politicians who are interested not only in Cortelyou, but also in obtaining for New York a place on the National ticket. It is understood that Secretary Cortelyou is not averse to having his name used for the second place on the ticket, although he is in no sense an active candidate for the place. His selection would have the indorsement of President Roosevelt, to whom the suggestion is not new.

TAFT REPORTS TO ROOSEVELT.

Says All Questions Between Colombia and Panama Are in Way of Settlement.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 18. — Secretary Taft got back from his Panama trip this morning. He had his report to the President all ready, and delivered it at the White House on his way from the station. After a half hour's conference with the President, the Secretary went over to his office in the War Department and tackled the accumulated mass of business awaiting him there. This evening he had another long conference with the President at the White House, at which Secretary Root was also present.

The Secretary reported that practically all the questions between Colombia and Panama had been put in the way of settlement as a result of his journey.

SEGAL FREED OF INDICTMENT.

Real Estate Trust Co. Charges Against North and Collingwood Also Dropped.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, May 18.—The criminal charges against Adolph Segal, William F. North, and Marshall S. Collingwood, who were arrested and indicted following the failure of the Real Estate Trust Company, were dismissed to-day by Judge Carr in Quarter Sessions at the request of the Board of Directors of the trust company, and with the consent of District Attorney Rotan.

For nearly a year it has been known that this action was to be taken, because investigations made soon after the failure of the company brought to light the fact that no evidence of criminality could be found against either Mr. North, who was the Treasurer, and Mr. Collingwood, his assistant, or against Mr. Segal, who was merely a borrower, and whose securities have since been more than ample to cover his loans.

The Directors of the trust company adopted a resolution directing George H. Earle, President of the company, to ask the court to dismiss the forty-one bills of indictment on counts of fraud, conspiracy, and collusion which had been found against the three men.

RUMOR OF POLICE SHAKE-UP.

Bingham Said to be Ready to Shift Four Captains and Lesser Officers.

It was rumored around Police Headquarters last night that Police Commissioner Bingham is planning a severe shakeup in the near future, which will send four Police Captains to desk duty and possibly two Sergeants and two Lieutenants before the Commissioner to answer charges of neglect of duty.

The four Captains whom rumor picked out for reduction are Horatio N. Young of the New Brighton (S. I.) Station, John Cooney of the East Sixty-seventh Street Station, Stephen McDermott of the East Twenty-second Street Station, and Stephen O'Brien of the West Thirty-seventh Street Station. The Sergeants and Lieutenants who are to be brought up on charges, according to the rumor, are in the East Twenty-second Street Station.

The shakeup predicted grew out of the recent raids made by Deputy Commissioner Bugher's staff of poolrooms and gambling houses in the various police districts over the heads of the respective Captains and other officers.

Mrs. Viola Doscher Gets a Divorce.

Mrs. Viola Howe Doscher, who married Frederick L. Doscher at Whitestone, L. I., on Feb. 14, 1901, obtained an interlocutory decree of divorce from him yesterday after a hearing before Supreme Court Justice Goff. Mrs. Doscher charged her husband with misconduct with an unknown woman at a Raines law hotel in Williamsburg on Sept. 12, 1907. The suit was undefended.

J. R. KEENE SUED BY STOCK TIPSTER

Manhattan Broker Alleges He Was Employed to Boom Southern Pacific.

WANTS $25,000 COMMISSION

The allegation that James R. Keene employed the services of a stock information or tipping bureau to boost the value of Southern Pacific Railroad stock during the slump in the Summer of 1902, when Keene lost in his great stock market battle with Harriman and William Rockefeller, was made in a suit begun yesterday before Justice Crane in the Supreme Court, Brooklyn. It was brought by A. N. Ridgely, a Manhattan broker, against James R. Keene and Talbot J. Taylor & Co. as co-defendants. The firm named consists of Talbot J. Taylor, James B. Taylor, and Foxhall P. Keene.

The plaintiff asserted that he conducts a stock brokerage office and provides a large clientele of investors with information as to the real value of stocks and bonds by means of circulars entitled "Ridgely's Financial Forecasts." On Aug. 5, 1902, he says, he was approached by representatives of Talbot J. Taylor & Co., who were acting as agent for James R. Keene, and informed that Taylor & Co. had positive knowledge that the stock of the Southern Pacific, though selling on the Stock Exchange at $68, was in reality worth $100 per share, and that it would assume that value in the market before the close of the year.

The defendants, Ridgely says, declared that their information was positive, and on the strength of their assertion he entered into an agreement to boost the sale of the stock. Through his efforts, he alleged, more than 100,000 shares were purchased, which he considers entitles him to a commission of at least $25,000, the amount sought. In spite of the fact, as he alleges, that a suitable commission had been promised him, no recognition was ever made of his services.

The defendants declare they were unacquainted with the "Financial Forecast," and that they never sought its aid in promoting the sale of stock. The case will be continued to-day.

RABBI WISE ATTACKS JINGOES.

He Says Hobson Is Not Serving His Country by War Talk.

"I can't reconcile a big peace programme with a great navy programme," said Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, at the meeting of the Peace Circle of New York at the Hotel Astor last evening, "and I would rather hear a man go up and down the country crying, 'War! War!' all the time like Hobson than to have one who is ready to cry peace if there must be peace and ready to jump into war at any time if there is a chance for war. I rather wish we might have war on Hobson's account, for he would then be serving his country as he is not serving it now.

"There is no country in the world which would dare to insult the United States, and I have it from those who know—who know—that the noblest men and women in Japan are heart sick on account of this dribble about that country's hatred of the United States.

"It is a serious condition of affairs when war talk is listened to even in Young Men's Christian Associations. I would not have it in any association with which I am connected, and I am not a Christian. I am only a Jew. The man who foments war when there is no war commits a crime against humanity."

They All Looked So Good He Didn't Know Which Piano to Choose

Annual Spring Piano Sale At Aeolian Hall

A WELL-KNOWN merchant residing in Brooklyn came to Aeolian Hall to select a piano in the Special Sale. After looking over the instruments displayed, he said to the salesman:

"I'll leave it to you to choose one for me. I thought I could pick out what I wanted, but they all look so good, I don't know which to take."

Cases like this are by no means rare in the Sales at Aeolian Hall. The number of desirable pianos is so large and every one is so obviously splendid value at its price, that the customer sometimes finds himself unable to choose between them.

Pianos in this Sale as low as $90.

Moderate monthly payments.

Men's Smart Clothes Sold Under a New System

Turning money quickly instead of giving long credit to retail houses in all parts of the country is the method adopted by S. N. Wood & Co., manufacturers of clothing for men. In pursuance of this policy, suits of the highest grade, snappy in style and appearance, are sold directly to the wearer at wholesale prices, precisely the same figures that retailers would pay.

As an example, a $20 suit may be had here for $10. All grades of suits are sold at the same relative price—50% less than regular figures.

This enables us to turn our money quickly, keep the factory going on full time and permits the wearer of smart clothes to enjoy a privilege never before offered by any other clothing house in America.

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD
Bulletin.

THE BUSINESS MAN'S TRAINS.

The man of affairs when he travels wants all the conveniences of his club. He will either carry his business on the train with him, or make his trip a recreation. In either case the Limited trains of the Pennsylvania Railroad meet his requirements. If he wishes to talk business en route, a drawing-room or state-room supplies the private office. If he wishes to finish up some left-over correspondence, there is a stenographer at his elbow to do his bidding without charge. If he wishes to keep in touch with the market, he has the stock reports, which are telegraphed to the train. Many business and professional men take advantage of these facilities.

If he wishes to forget business and take a mental rest, he can do it in a luxurious manner, surrounded by tasteful appointments and all the things that his club supplies for satisfying the inner man. There are books to browse in, periodicals to skim over, and beyond the wide plate windows an ever changing picture of nature in all manner of environment. This is restful and engaging.

The quartette of Limiteds, led by the "Pennsylvania Special" (18 hours between New York and Chicago), the famous "Pennsylvania Limited" (the pioneer of the Limiteds to Chicago), the "Chicago Limited" (evening train to Chicago), and the "St. Louis Limited" (afternoon train to the Southwest), are all expressly equipped for the use of the business man and the traveler for pleasure.

A telephone call of 1032 Madison will bring all information and the necessary tickets, if desired.

In the advertising of Men's Clothes the garments, whether $5.98 or $50, are always "smart, stylish and correct."

Funny, isn't it?

Brill Clothes' claims for smartness, style and correctness are based on these facts:

Brill Clothes are acknowledged by the metropolitan press, by the trade papers and by fashion authorities to be "New York's Correct Styles."

Brill models are the most widely copied the country over.

Brill styles are 6 months to a year in advance because they are designed 6 months after other ready garments.

More new fabrics, more new models and more new ideas of construction have been introduced by Brill stores in the past three years than by all the other concerns in New York combined.

Every Brill garment, whether $15 or $45, was designed by one of the ten foremost designers in America.

All of which proves that every Brill garment, whether $15 or $45, is "smart, stylish and correct."

Brill Suits at $20 and $25

The designs and colorings include the new two-tone stripes, the new Henley or English hairline stripes, the pencil stripes, mixtures, checks, overplaids, &c., in possibly 150 shades and colorings—tiger tans, Havana browns, stone olives, elephant and smoke grays, moss greens, &c.,—the new colorings born in 1908, and besides these, the staple worsted mixtures, the plain serge and thibet weaves in blue and black and brown.

The models include designs from America's ten foremost designers and also all the exclusive Brill models 1A, 1B, 2, 3A, 3B, Derby L, Derby II., the Manchester, &c.

The tailoring of these suits was done by the foremost and most progressive tailoring organizations in America and embodies every advance in the construction of clothes.

If the only garments sold in Brill stores were these $20 and $25 suits, still Brill stores would be New York's most modern clothes stores.

BALDWIN AIRSHIP MAKES SHORT FLIGHT

Carries Inventor 93 Yards When Mishap to the Propeller Forces a Descent.

ONLY TEN FEET IN THE AIR

New Steering Gear Works Well—C. O. Jones Plans Trip from Hammondsport to Boston in Dirigible Balloon.

HAMMONDSPORT, N. Y., May 18.—The aerodrome White Wing made a short flight here to-day, carrying its designer, F. W. Baldwin, up into the air to a height of about ten feet. The pressure of the air on the elastic rear edge of the lower aeroplane caused it to foul the propeller, and the aerodrome was therefore brought down to the ground, after having traversed a distance of ninety-three yards. The damage, it was said, would be easily repaired.

The new steering gear attached to the front wheel worked satisfactorily, so that there is now no difficulty in keeping the machine on the race track while running on the ground. The race track has been widened by plowing up a portion of adjoining field and smoothing it with a roller.

Charles Oliver Jones of Cincinnati, who for several months past has been engaged here in perfecting his dirigible balloon type of airship, announces a trial of the ship, the Boomerang, for the first week in June. At that time Mr. Jones will undertake a trip from Hammondsport to Boston.

Mr. Jones's airship has a gas bag of 18,000 cubic feet capacity, and is so poised that the buoyancy of the gas overcomes the weight of the operator and the motor, and makes the machine just equal weight of air. The motor and car for the operator and two passengers is suspended from a balloon frame, hanging below the cigar-shaped gas bag. The motor is a 30 horse power engine.

Mr. Jones calculates his machine can make 35 miles an hour. With a favorable wind, he expects to cover the distance between Hammondsport and Boston in about eight hours.

WRIGHTS TO FLY FOR ARMY.

Will Test Their Aeroplane at Fort Meyer Before Signal Officers.

Special to The New York Times.

NORFOLK, Va., May 18.—Wilbur and Orville Wright, who have just made a series of flights in their aeroplane on the beach at Kill Devil Hill near Manteo, N. C., passed through here to-day en route to their home in Dayton, Ohio.

They consider the experiments at Kill Devil Hill very successful, and while they do not say so in so many words, it is evident that they consider the problem of flying in machines heavier than air as solved.

Some time within the next few months a test of the Wrights' aeroplane will be made at Fort Meyer, near Washington, when the flights will be witnessed by the officers of the signal corps, who wish to purchase an aeroplane.

GANG PUTS THEATRE IN PANIC.

East New York Rowdies Seek to Avenge "Kid Twist's" Death.

There was a small panic among the audience who saw "Anna Karenina" played by a stock company at the Gotham Theatre in East New York yesterday afternoon when alleged members of the gang of the late "Kid Twist," who with his henchman "Cyclone Lewis" was murdered by Louis Poggi, an Italian, at Coney Island last Thursday night, attacked an inoffensive Italian outside the theatre and then made a demonstration inside.

The fear that trouble would ensue between members of the gang and Italians who were celebrating a religious holiday in East New York caused the police to have plenty of reserves in the Italian colonies to prevent trouble, and a number were at the theatre.

The gang finally went into the café in the theatre building, where Samuel Koomer, alias "English" Sam, picked a quarrel with Detective Frank Dougherty of the Liberty Avenue Station, who had been called in to suppress the disturbance. Koomer was soundly whipped, and after being attended by an ambulance surgeon was locked up on a charge of disorderly conduct.

MRS. MAY VANDERBILT FAILS TO APPEAR

Intimate of "Little Bright Eyes" and Other Ghostly Familiars Wanted in Court.

IN ANNULMENT SUIT

Counsel for Miss Vanderbilt Tells the Court That the Woman Is Hiding in Brooklyn.

Unless Lawyer Rosenberg, counsel for Miss Minerva Vanderbilt, who is trying to have her father's marriage to Mrs. May Pepper, the spiritualistic medium annulled on the ground that he is mentally unsound, is mistaken in his assertions, "Little Bright Eyes," "Thundercloud," and other ghostly familiars of the medium must have spirited her away from Brooklyn yesterday.

When the annulment proceedings were called yesterday before Justice Maddox, in the Supreme Court, Attorney George V. S. Williams, who represents Mrs. Vanderbilt, asked for an adjournment, stating that his client was seriously ill at Lynn, Mass.

"That is not so. I have certain information that she is at her home in St. Mark's Avenue," exclaimed Mr. Rosenberg.

"If your information is correct I will resign from this case," replied Mr. Williams. "I was informed that she was ill in Lynn."

Justice Maddox granted a recess until 2 o'clock, in order that Mrs. Pepper-Vanderbilt's whereabouts might be determined. Detectives were dispatched to the Vanderbilt residence, but a search failed to reveal any trace of the woman. At 2 o'clock Rosenberg was still insistent.

"How do you know she is in Brooklyn?" asked Justice Maddox.

"I talked to her on the 'phone," was the reply.

"Well, I'll adjourn this case until next Monday. If Mrs. Vanderbilt is unable to be here then her counsel must present her deposition, and we will proceed with that," said the Justice. "In the meanwhile," addressing Rosenberg, "I would advise you not to combine the professions of attorney and detective. It is not dignified."

THINKS THAW PARANOIAC.

Dr. A. W. Ferris Thinks His Only Hope Is a Finding of Illegal Commitment.

ALBANY, N. Y., May 18.—Dr. Albert W. Ferris, President of the State Commission in Lunacy, who was among the experts subpoenaed by District Attorney Jerome to testify in the proceedings brought to have Harry K. Thaw released from the Matteawan State Hospital for the Criminal Insane, said to-day that he was of the opinion that Thaw is a paranoiac, and that the only way Thaw can hope to obtain his release would be by the court holding his commitment illegal.

In definition of the word "best" the Standard Dictionary says in part: 'best' in trade use is a term of rather uncertain meaning * * *

The little word has lost its ealier significance—"excelling all others" not through use but misuse. In all justice, therefore, to fittingly describe our

Apparel for Men

we must say "better than best."

The "best" read-for-service suits we can find elsewhere are certainly lacking in just those features we incorporate in ours to compel distinction.

The 'best' of which our designers and tailormen are capable begins at a higher level than ready-for-sevice garments have ever before attained.

CASTRO'S GRIP FIRM, SAYS U. S. MINISTER

No Chance for Revolution While Plague Lasts, Reports W. W. Russell, Home from Venezuela.

DENIES REPORT OF CRISIS

La Guayra Cut Off on Account of the Plague and Many Families Destitute—Consul Quarantined.

Here on a sixty days' leave of absence, W. W. Russell, United States Minister to Venezuela, arrived yesterday on the Red D liner Caracas. He is accompanied by his wife and his baby daughter, who was born in the Legation building at Caracas on Jan. 19.

The Caracas was held some time in Quarantine because of the examination Dr. Doty is giving vessels coming from Venezuela, in some ports of which the bubonic plague is prevalent.

Mr. Russell had nothing to say regarding the opening of the mail for the cruiser Tacoma in the Venezuela Post Office, but he talked of the general situation in Venezuela.

"The plague is a much more important question down there," said Minister Russell. "The political situation is quiet. The newspapers in Venezuela sometimes contain incendiary articles and get very violent regarding the situation between this country and Venezuela, but no one pays any attention to them."

Speaking of President Castro, Mr. Russell said that he had practically recovered from his illness of a year ago when it was thought he would die. Mr. Russell said that President Castro now not only has a strong hold on life, but a strong grip on the country, and that there is no chance of any revolution successfully springing up. He was asked whether President Castro did not labor under the impression that he had got the better of the "Big Stick," but evaded the question.

Before he left the steamer, Mr. Russell was asked whether he had not been treated by the Venezuelan Government offcials with incivility before he left his post. He denied the report, pointing out that the Minister of Foreign Affairs had visited him before he sailed, and said there was no danger of a crisis between the two countries.

LA GUAYRA PLAGUE-RIDDEN.

Stores Closed and Families Destitute—Appeal to Castro for Relief.

CARACAS, Saturday, May 9.—Never was Minister William W. Russell's popularity better shown than this morning, when the German railroad station was thronged by members of the Diplomatic Corps and of Caracas society to bid him good-bye on the occasion of his departure for New York. Mr. Russell's private car, which was to take him and his family to Puerto Cabello, was converted into a tropical garden by the many beautiful bouquets from Mrs. Russell's friends.

It is generally believed here that this departure of the American Minister may mark a crisis in the diplomatic relations between the two countries.

The three cases of bubonic plague which existed in Caracas a month ago have not been followed by any new ones, and the city as a consequence is receiving a good cleaning up. The same cannot be said of La Guayra, which is already in a sad predicament. The merchants there are no longer able to feed the crowds of destitute persons, and this week they made an appeal to the Chamber of Commerce of Caracas for aid. This was immediately answered by a large shipment of provisions, medicine, and other needed articles. All the business houses of La Guayra are closed.

The Chamber of Commerce of Caracas appointed a committee to go to President Castro for the purpose of explaining to him the terrible condition of La Guayra and of its inhabitants, and the necessity of taking heroic measures.

Consul Moffat Can't Leave La Guayra.

WASHINGTON, May 18.—Word has reached the State Department from Consul Thomas P. Moffat at La Guayra, Venezuela, who is unable to get away from that place because of the quarantine regulations on account of the bubonic plague. The gunboat Paducah, which arrived at Curacao, brought the news of Mr. Moffat's predicament, but says he is in good health. The State Department is looking for some way to get Mr. Moffat from the plague-stricken city.

CASTELLANE IN THE WAY.

His Attitude Greatest Obstacle to Mme. Gould's Marriage to Sagan.

PARIS, May 18.—When and where the wedding of Prince Helie de Sagan and Mme. Gould will take place has not yet been definitely decided. They regard themselves as engaged and would like to solemnize the marriage immediately.

The most serious obstacle to the marriage is the attitude of Count Boni de Castellane, which involves the possible limitation of Mme. Gould's rights over her children. Count Boni, naturally, is furious at the idea of the wedding and makes no concealment of his intention, if it takes place, to demand a modification of the divorce decree which gave his wife the custody of the children. He will base this demand on the ground that the Prince would not be a suitable stepfather to the children. In the course of Prince Helie's recent suit against Count Boni and his brother for assault, it will be remembered Maitre Bonnet, the Castellanes' attorney, declared that no court in France would confide the custody of children to a man of de Sagan's character.

Mme. Gould professes to feel certain that Count Boni could not obtain the modification of the divorce decree which he has in mind, but she is of the opinion that the pressing of his demand would create complications which would annoy both her and the Prince. This embarrassment might be avoided if the marriage should take place abroad and if after the wedding the Prince and his wife should settle in a foreign country and thus keep out of the jurisdiction of the French courts.

The question of a religious ceremony does not stand in the way of the marriage. Mme. Gould is a Protestant and the marriage, of course, would take place before a Protestant minister. But it would not be necessary for Prince Helie to change his religion; he would only be obliged to accept the Protestant rite.

Reports from Rome that Mme. Gould sought to have her marriage to Count Boni annulled by the Vatican are pronounced untrue upon competent authority. It is explained that it was well understood that such an attempt would be futile.

AFRAID OF ARMOUR & CO.

Parliamentary Inquiry About Report Firm Will Retail Meat in England.

LONDON, May 18.—The fears of British butchers and meat salesmen that Armour & Co. of Chicago contemplated immediate and large developments of their meat-selling business in this country were partially allayed in the House of Commons to-day when Winston Churchill, President of the Board of Trade, replied to a question asked by Charles W. Bowerman, who represents the meat-market district in the House.

The agitation was due to a report that the Chicago firm was calling for $5,000,000 of new capital for the purpose of dotting London and the provinces with their own retail stores, the idea being to avoid the tolls and charges levied at the Smithfield market. Mr. Bowerman held that such action would destroy the business of the English butchers and meat salesmen, who would not be able to compete with the American packers.

Mr. Churchill said that he had been informed by Armour & Co. that they had not called for new capital and that they had no intention of opening retail shops here or in the provinces. Mr. Churchill said further that many butchering and selling businesses in Smithfield had been acquired or financed with the object of enabling them to sell imported meat only.

Prof. Skeat Says the Language is Studied Here More Than in England.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, May 18.—W. W. Skeat, Professor of Anglo-Saxon at Cambridge University, agrees with Dr. Alois Brandl's criticism on spoken English, the substance of which I cabled Saturday.

"It is perfectly true," said the professor, "that many Americans speak English with an excellent pronunciation, but it is to be remembered that in America training in English is carried on with much greater strictness and to a far greater extent than in England.

"For example, it generally is considered in our great public schools that Latin and Greek are of primary importance, and no particular attention is paid to instruction in English nor to elocution. In America, on the contrary, as I lately was assured by the President of one of the principal American universities, the teaching of English takes absolutely the first place; every other study is held to be of subsidiary importance.

"Moreover, the study of phonetics is taken very seriously both in Germany and America, and students are expected to understand the pronunciation of Chaucer and King Alfred. In England the study of phonetics is almost unknown except to a few students, who receive small encouragement. The consequence is that the ordinary Englishman is entirely ignorant of the history of his own language, and has no idea why words are spelled as they are."

Prof. Skeat said he saw no objection to the employment of Americans to teach English in Germany, because, as he put it, "Americans give attention to the subject and understand what they are talking about."

ABD-EL-AZIZ IN BAD WAY.

May Be Compelled to Abdicate—His Army on Point of Revolt.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, May 18.—According to a dispatch from the Matin's correspondent, who is accompanying Sultan Abd-el-Aziz on his march toward Fez, the regular Moorish army is now on the point of revolt, and may go over to the pretender any moment.

The Sultan, the correspondent says, is unable to count on his troops, and can neither retreat nor advance. If his troops should desert him, the correspondent believes his abdication almost certainly would take place at an early date.

McINTYRE'S FATHER A WITNESS

Aged Man Tells About His Account with Defunct Brokerage Firm.

Ewen McIntyre, the aged father of T. A. McIntyre, was called yesterday as the first witness in the T. A. McIntyre & Co. bankruptcy examination before United States Commissioner Gilchrist. Mr. McIntyre is 80 years old. He said he lived at 303 West Seventy-fourth Street. He denied that he had ever traded with the firm of T. A. McIntyre & Co. on margins, always buying his stocks outright. In answer to Lawyer Irving L. Ernst, representing the receiver, Mr. McIntyre said he now owned 100 shares of Kansas City Southern, 200 Erie common, and 50 Erie first preferred. These stocks, he said, were bought for the joint account of himself and John G. McIntyre. He said that a few days after the firm's failure these stocks were taken from a safe deposit vault to his home.

The witness admitted that a $3,500 automobile had been turned over to him by T. A. McIntyre just before the failure, but said this was done because he lent his son the money to buy it.

Promising to produce the 350 shares of stock held by himself and John G. McIntyre jointly, for the receiver's inspection at to-day's hearing, an adjournment was taken until 2 o'clock to-day.

LIGHTNING STARTS FIRES.

Damage Amounting to $25,000 Caused by Electrical Storm.

MOUNT HOLLY, N. J., May 18.—An electrical storm which passed over this section at midnight was of great severity and did $25,000 damage in this county, as there was much hail, which cut down crops.

During the storm lightning struck the house of Miss Maria Walker at Lumberton, and a falling chimney went through the roof and damaged the contents of a room. The house of John Rockhill at Medford was struck and consumed. Two barns of John E. Darnell at Mount Laurel, including six horses and one colt, were destroyed. The horizon at 1 o'clock showed many fires not yet reported, and it is believed they were barns or haystacks.

NEW RAILROAD CLUB IN LOFTY QUARTERS

Many Private Dining Rooms Also Provided—The Whole Has a Fine Outlook Over the Hudson.

The Railroad Club, the latest and most exclusive of the downtown lunch clubs, opened its inviting doors to a company of a thousand members and guests for the first time yesterday. Occupying the entire twenty-first and twenty-second floors of the Cortlandt-Dey Street wing of the Hudson tunnels terminal building, the club has the distinction of being the loftiest eating organization in the city as well as the most sumptuously appointed of those which have quarters in the financial district. It adds to these achievements an outlook that commands the entire Hudson River water front from the north and west windows and the upper and lower bays from the windows on the southerly side.

The club is the idea of William G. McAdoo, the genius of the Hudson tunnels. He had only to suggest it something more than a year ago, however, for it to be taken up by the Directors of the Hudson companies, and consequently the two upper floors of the sky-scraper that fills the block between Cortland, Church, Dey, and Greenwich were laid out with particular reference to the needs of such an organization. The large dining room takes up the southwestern corner of the twenty-first floor and will seat three or four hundred persons. Then along the Hudson side of the building comes the grillroom and beyond that a large reading room.

On the floor above is the feature of the club, probably destined to be the most popular of all—an aerial balcony where perhaps a hundred may sit at tables three hundred feet above the street for their after-luncheon coffee. There are private dining rooms and private dining rooms and still more private dining rooms, in which it may be supposed that many of the big deals of Wall Street will be put through for the next generation or until a more novel eating place is devised. A barber's shop and manicure are included in the establishment, and there are many conveniences for the comfort of the members. Then, not to be forgotten, there is at last the kitchen, which it would take a scientist to describe in detail. But it is the real thing in kitchens.

The President of the club is Judge E. H. Gary, Chairman of the Board of the United States Steel Corporation; the Vice President is Frederick D. Underwood, President of the Erie Railroad, and C. W. King is Secretary and Treasurer. On the House Committee are W. G. McAdoo, Walter G. Oakman, W. H. Marshall, F. B. Jennings, and W. G. Besler of the Central Railroad of New Jersey. The following are the Governors of the new club:

William M. Barnum, W. G. Besler, Anthony N. Brady, E. P. Bryan, C. A. Coffin, E. C. Converse, R. W. De Forest, Pliny Fisk, Andrew Freedman, E. H. Gary, Clarence H. Kelsey, W. G. McAdoo, Waldo H. Marshall, J. A. Middleton, W. G. Oakman, John W. Simpson, Valentine P. Snyder, George R. Sheldon, F. D. Underwood, Cornelius Vanderbilt, and F. B. Jennings.

In the membership of the club are:

John Jacob Astor, P. G. Bartlett, William P. Bonbright, E. P. Bryan, W. H. Barnum, Union M. Bethell, John W. Castles, Daniel F. Cohalan, Austin Colgate, William E. KISSED BY BAD APE; ASKS $500

Scrubwoman Says Animal in Museum Hugged and Bit Her.

"Mary, the beautiful scrubwoman," is suing for $500 damages because, as she says, she was hugged, kissed, and bitten by an ungentlemanly ape, usher in "Edwards's Big Animal Show and Museum," which was then, April 4, at 259-261 Bowery. Her lawyer, Samuel Deutsch of 280 Broadway, said that he served the proprietor of the show just as he was closing it up a few days ago. The case will be tried on May 25 in the First District Municipal Court.

Mary F. Skally, "the beautiful scrubwoman," lives at 31 Leroy Street. She is 49 years old. When interviewed yesterday afternoon by a TIMES reporter, who began by asking the plaintiff if her name was Mary F. Skally, she answered:

"It is not. I am a park bum."

Later on she admitted the name, and told the details of the conduct of the usher. She had finished her scrubbing work about 4 o'clock in the afternoon of that said day in April, and went down on the Bowery for relaxation. She strayed into the big animal show, because she liked the looks of the barker.

"The moment I gets in," she said yesterday, "an' takin' me bearin's, a big gorilla, or something like that, rushed at me. I t'ougnt he was a usher at foirst, an' so I didn't run right off. He threw his hairy arms aroun' me neck, squeezed me close, an' then, mind ye, he grabbed me right han' an' bit into it deep.

"I handed him a smack in the right jaw, an' flew th' coop. I was in New York Horspital fer t'ree days, an' me constitution was certainly shocked."

In the sixth paragraph of his petition Mr. Deutsch says that at all the times mentioned there was among the animals of the big show a "certain gorilla, chimpanzee, ape, orang-outang, or other species of monkey," and in his seventh paragraph he says that the said animal "was and is wild."

Because of the conduct of the said wild animal, then, the plaintiff, through her lawyers, says that she became "sick, sore, and disabled, and received a severe shock." Wherefore she wants $500 in damages.

Warning Sent Out to Plumbers.

Notice has been served on every registered plumber in Manhattan by Building Superintendent Murphy that he intends to enforce strictly the rules of the Building Bureau with reference to cast-iron pipes. His attention was drawn lately by David V. Mahoney, one of the experts in the bureau, to the fact that a great quantity of lightweight piping was being used. This is likely to crack and thereby endanger the health of tenants by the escape of sewer gas.

P.R.R. VICE PRESIDENT FOR 7TH AV. SUBWAY

SAYS IT IS A NECESSITY

Needed to Provide Accommodations for Crowds Which Will Use New Pennsylvania Terminal.

Samuel Rea, Third Vice President of the Pennsylvania Railroad, has written to Controller Metz urging the construction of a subway on Seventh Avenue as an absolute necessity. He expresses gratification at the criticism passed recently by John B. McDonald upon the Lexington Avenue project, and brings forward the need of providing accommodation for the crowds which will use the new Pennsylvania station at Thirty-third Street as an argument for building under Seventh Avenue.

Mr. Rea says:

> To business men and citizens acquainted with the needs of New York City, and having to be responsible for its traffic conditions and expenditures, there is no question that the best results for the city and the citizens will be accomplished by the building of the Seventh Avenue Subway. This line on the west side of the city is imperatively needed, because the Pennsylvania Railroad and the Long Island Railroad will place in the Seventh Avenue and Thirty-third Street district daily over 200,000 passengers. In addition, the United States Post Office and other large buildings will be located in that vicinity, so that for the accommodation of the citizens in various parts of New York City, and especially those in the Boroughs of Brooklyn and Queens, who will reach our station over the Long Island Railroad, the Seventh Avenue Subway will be an absolute necessity.
>
> If this subway had for its purpose the accommodation of citizens and business men only in the Borough of Manhattan, or if its construction placed upon the city a very heavy burden compared with other subways now recommended, or if there was on the west side a subway line already in operation, there might properly be considerable objection from the residents in the other boroughs, but as no subway has been provided for the west side of the city, and with over 200,000 passengers to be accommodated every day, largely made up of residents in the other boroughs transacting business in the borough of Manhattan, in addition to the people on the west side now requiring accommodation, and as the Seventh Avenue Subway will supplement to such a large extent the carrying capacity of the present Subway, unquestionably it should be built at the earliest possible opportunity.
>
> It would also have the benefits which Mr. McDonald points out, namely, the construction of a short line through Canal Street, connecting with the Brooklyn-Manhattan loop now being built by the city, which will give a direct line to this section of Manhattan for the people of Brooklyn.

In another letter Mr. Rea calls the Controller's attention to the fact that the late A. J. Cassatt, President of the Pennsylvania, was first of all in favor of a Seventh Avenue subway.

COMMUTERS HAVE A HEARING.

They Tell Utilities Board Their Grievances Against the Central.

The up-State Public Service Commission, under the Chairmanship of Frank Stevens, continued its hearing of the grievances of the New York Central commuters in the offices of the New York Commission yesterday. From time tables of several years it was showed that the number of trains has been diminished, and Otto Hufeland, President of the Fourt Ward Taxpayers' Association, testified that the Harlem Division trains make poorer time than the Subway.

On the Subway 1,616 locals and expresses pass Times Square both ways every twenty-four hours, but the trains arrivinig and departing from the Grand Central in twenty-four hours number only 434. The Third Avenue elevated in the same time runs 1,056 trains.

In criticizing these figures, C. C. Paulding, who appeared for the New York Central, brought out that 434 trains to and from the Grand Central did not include any work trains or trains run in sections.

Alderman August C. Thoma of West Mount Vernon presented to the commission a statement from which it appeared that there had been a marked falling off in the number of commutation tickets sold as soon as the rates were put up. During the first six months of 1907 the rate between New York and Mount Vernon was $5.86, and there were 4,453 tickets sold. In the last six months the rate has been $4.86, and there were 4,453 tickets sold.

Adam Danner said there were never before so many empty houses in Mount Vernon, many persons having moved because trains have been taken off.

FREE RIDES IN BROOKLYN.

Three-Mile Zone on Coney Island System Where No Fare Is Collected.

Because of the anxiety of the company to avoid possible penalty suits, Flatbush folk, for the time being, are enjoying free rides on a three-mile stretch of the Coney Island & Brooklyn Railroad. The "free stretch" is between the Prospect Park Circle and King's Highway.

Under the old charter of the Coney Island-Brooklyn line as a steam road the company was privileged to charge a rate of fare not exceeding 3 cents a mile. The law provides a penalty of $50 for each charge in excess of this rate of fare.

Several Brooklyn lawyers discovered that in many cases passengers were charged 10 cents for a ride of three miles or less. They brought penalty suits on behalf of clients, and their practice was beginning to cost the company heavily. An identification check scheme confused the conductors, and on Saturday the company decided to charge no fare at all to passengers boarding cars within the "three-mile zone" and riding to points within that zone.

NEW HOTEL FOR BROOKLYN.

Louis Bossert to Erect 12-Story Structure on Site of Old Pierrepont House.

A million-dollar hotel is to be erected on the site of the old Pierrepont House, at Montague and Hicks Streets, Brooklyn Heights. The land has been purchased by Louis Bossert from Abraham Abraham. It has a frontage of 78 feet on Montague Street, and runs through to Remsen Street. The property was sold four years ago for $189,000, and it is understood that Mr. Bossert bought it yesterday at a much higher figure.

It is the intention of Mr. Bossert to erect a twelve-story apartment hotel on the property. Helme & Huberty, architects, are now at work on the plans. Mr. Bossert is now the owner of the James Hazen Hyde country place at Bay Shore, L. I.

CONDEMN LIQUOR TRAFFIC.

Baptists Urge Congress to Forbid the Shipment Into Dry Territory.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., May 18.—Amid scenes of enthusiasm the Southern Baptist Convention to-day adopted resolutions condemning the liquor traffic in all its phases. Officers of the National Government are requested not to issue revenue licenses in States where the sale of liquor is prohibited by the State law.

Congress is urged to inhibit the shipment of liquor into "dry" territory, and people everywhere are urged not to vote for candidates who are in sympathy with the saloon interests.

Day Line Trips Begin To-day.

The service of the Hudson River Day Line boats between New York and Albany will start to-day. The down trips will commence to-morrow. The steamers New York and Albany of the line have been thoroughly overhauled. The schedule will be the same as heretofore.

CONDITIONS OF BIG ENDURANCE RACE

Committee Will Announce Result of Its Work at the End of This Week.

VANDERBILT CUP RUMORS

Chairman Thompson to Announce Plans of Contest Within a Week—Chances of Long Island for Event.

The Committee of Plan and Scope, which will draw up the regulations and conditions for the double transcontinental endurance race from New York to San Francisco and return—Jefferson Demont Thompson, Robert Lee Morrell, and A. R. Pardington—will complete the conditions of the contest within a day or two and be prepared at the beginning of next week to submit the results of their labors to the contestants. In addition to the eight cars which have already indicated their intention to compete in the race thero is a probability that five others will be enlisted when the entry blanks are ready for distribution. The attitude of automobile manufacturers is so distinctly in sympathy with the contest that it promises to prove a much bigger undertaking than originally anticipated. Several novel suggestions of peculiar interest to the automobile world may be embodied in the competition, announcement of which can be made by the end of this week.

Alfred Reeves of the American Motor Car Manufacturers' Association, left yesterday on an extended tour of the West to visit the factories of the various companies represented in his association, for the purpose of interesting various manufacturers in the coming double transcontinental endurance contest and arranging for the shows of the association to be held in Chicago and New York this Winter. Manager Reeves is an enthusiastic supporter of the big race, and believes it to be the greatest contest ever proposed in automobiling. He declares that he expects to see a score of contestants line up at Times Square for the start in August and believes the public interest stimulated will be of the greatest benefit to the sport and the industry, transcending anything previously seen in this country. "The cars that make the transcontinental race will find the interest even bigger and more general than in the New York to Paris race, which set a new mark in automobiling," he says.

The talk of holding the Vanderbilt Cup race on Long Island this year is in line with the announcement made by Chairman Jefferson Demont Thompson of the Vanderbilt Cup Commission more than a month ago, when autoists on every side were clamoring for the race at Savannah. Mr. Thompson said then that there was an excellent chance of holding the race on Long Island, and that they were very hopeful of arranging a course that could be satisfactorily protected. The chances are as good now, perhaps better than they were at that time. Had they not been, more encouragement would have been given to the efforts of the Savannah delegation to land the big event. The statement that a contract for sixty miles of the Long Island Motor Parkway have been let to a Worcester firm is categorically denied by those who have both the Parkway and the cup race in charge, but this does not lessen the chances of the race. Chairman Thompson said yesterday that the Cup Commission would be ready to make an announcement on the race within a week, but at present the commission was not in position to make its plans public.

A. B. La Massena, Secretary of the Associated Automobile Clubs of New Jersey, has devised a system to see that fines collected from autoists for road violations reach the authorities to which they are legally supposed to go in an effort to stop the petty grafting which autoists declare is going on. He has asked every one to help the clubs drive out dishonesty. He has had cards distributed to all members of the associated clubs, which will record all details of arrests. These cards will be compared with the records of the State Department of Motor Vehicle Registration, and if default is discovered will prosecute those responsible.

METHODISTS CONSIDER UNION.

Senator Dolliver Asks Protestants to Lead Episcopalians Back to Fold.

PITTSBURG, Penn., May 18.—Consolidation with the Methodist Episcopal, Congregational, and United Brethren Churches was considered at to-day's session of the General Conference of the Methodist Protestant Church.

The committee appointed by the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, held at Baltimore, composed of Bishop H. W. Warren, the Rev. Dr. J. S. Goucher, President of the Women's College, Baltimore, and United States Senator J. P. Dolliver of Iowa, appeared before a committee of thirty-three members of the Methodist Protestant General Conference bearing fraternal greetings, and appealed to the conference to send them back with encouraging news.

The Rev. Dr. S. Parkes Cadman of Brooklyn and the Rev. Dr. Douglas Mackenzie, President of the Hartford, Conn., Congregational Theological Seminary, spoke for the Congregational Church. A delegation from the United Brethren Church followed the Congregationalists.

The consolidation of the Methodist Episcopal and Methodist Protestant Churches received great encouragement. A scene of remarkable enthusiasm was manifested when United States Senator Dolliver of Iowa, one of the Methodist Episcopal delegates, closed his address with the following words:

"I want the Methodist Protestant Church to lead all Methodists who have separated from the fold back to the mother church, and I want you to come to the old homestead on your own terms."

TO BAR METHODISTS DANCING.

Committee Will Recommend to Conference That Amusement Paragraph Remain.

BALTIMORE, May 18.—Memorial services in honor of the Bishops and officers of the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church who have died during the past quadrennium occupied the greater portion of to-day's sitting of the General Conference. These were Bishops Isaac W. Joyce, Charles C. McCabe, James N. Fitzgerald, Edward G. Andrews, Samuel M. Merrill, and Charles H. Fowler, and the Rev. Dr. James M. King, Secretary of the Board of Home Missions and Church Extension.

The time for organic union between the Methodist Episcopal Church and the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, has not yet fully come, in the judgment of the Committee on Federation, as set forth in a report ready for submission to the General Conference.

It is reported to-night on what seems excellent authority that the report of the Committee on Episcopacy which will be presented to the Methodist Episcopal General Conference to-morrow, will be in the nature of a surprise, in that it will recommend the election of ten Bishops.

Second only in interest to the election of Bishops, perhaps, is the final action on the paragraph of the Church discipline relating to amusements, touching which the address of the Bishops recommended the excision of dancing, card playing, and certain other words from the paragraph. By a decisive vote the committee on the state of the Church, to which the matter was referred, to-day decided to recommend to the conference that the paragraph on amusements remain as it now stands, and, thus negatixed the recommendation of the Bishops. The vote in committee was nearly three to one against making any change.

THE PRESIDENT'S FAILURE.

Up to within a month it seemed that the President was very much in earnest in his desire to secure legislation limiting the powers of the Federal courts in the issue of injunctions. He urged this on Congress in various ways, and the one feature of the legislation on which he seemed most to insist was that "in contempt cases, save where immediate action is imperative, the trial should be before another Judge" than the one issuing the temporary order.

So far as we recall, the President has not at any time succeeded in getting a Congressman, and certainly has got no committee of Congress, to take the responsibility for such a provision. It was on its face so inconsistent with that respect for a co-ordinate branch which the Legislature ought to show, it was so near an insulting implication that the Federal judiciary could not safely be intrusted with the powers enjoyed and exercised for years by both the Federal and the State courts, and this implication was absolutely so unsustained by any adequate evidence, that it is not surprising that even the most ardent friends of the President should hesitate to father a measure of this sort. Three bills in all were introduced relating to injunctions, one by Mr. Payne, leader of the House; one by Senator Beveridge, and one by Representative Pearre of Maryland. They varied in the length to which their authors were ready to go, but none went to the length of impugning the general fidelity of the Judges to their oath of office.

Finally, however, the President himself seems to have become convinced that the injunction legislation demanded by the representatives of the trades unions was too extreme even for the eve of a Presidential election, and he abandoned his efforts to push it. To this conclusion he was probably impelled by the voluminous evidence that reached him that the employers were keenly alive to the rights they had in the premises, and were not prepared to surrender them without a definite and persistent struggle. Their opposition was not aimed at the injunction bills alone, but these were clearly included. The result shows the value of organized public opinion even in matters as to which the President has apparently made up his mind beyond any probability of changing. The country is to be congratulated on the outcome. The rights of all, rich and poor, employed and employers, are safer.

ORGANIZING FARM LIFE.

It is announced that the President will immediately after the adjournment of Congress appoint a commission for the thorough study of rural life with a view to determine in what way the Government can most effectually cooperate in its improvement. The names mentioned for this commission are those of Prof. L. H. Bailey of Cornell University, Prof. A. A. Noyes, President of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and Mr. Gifford Pinchot, head of the Forestry Bureau in the Department of Agriculture. No better selections could be made. These gentlemen are of high intelligence, practical ability, and experience in the line of the inquiry to which they are appointed.

The President has been interested in this matter for a long time and has given to it more attention than could have been expected in his busy life. As is not unnatural in him, he is attracted to the social and ethical side of the problem, and especially desires to see what can be done to improve farm life in this direction. Among the questions to be submitted to his commission are the following:

> How can the life of the farm family be made less solitary, fuller of opportunity, freer from drudgery, more comfortable, happier, and more attractive?
>
> How can life on the farm be kept on the highest level and where it is not already on that level to be so improved, dignified, and brightened as to awaken and keep alive the pride and loyalty of the farmer's boys and girls, of the farmer's wife and of the farmer himself?
>
> How can a compelling desire to live on the farm be aroused in children who are born on the farm?

It will occur to a hard-headed economist that the first step toward making the life of the farm more attractive is to make it more profitable, and that, as we have already had occasion to point out, can be aided by practical organization for purposes of co-operation. But while this is the first step, and while others will be futile until this has measurably been assured, there is no reason why all possible steps should not be carefully studied, and then promoted as opportunity offers or can be made. What in a general way is needed is co-ordination of the various forces and agencies devoted to the same end, and on this line the commission, in the light of experiments made in other countries and beginnings made here, should be able to do valuable work.

FORTUNATE MR. BRYAN.

Mr. George R. Craw of The Chicago Tribune has been making some inquiries about Mr. Bryan's prosperous newspaper, The Commoner, and about his fortune, with results that will interest the American people, who, as they have often been assured by Mr. Roosevelt, Mr. Bourke Cockran, and Mr. Bryan himself, have no quarrel with wealth honestly acquired. "If nominated," says Mr. Craw, "Mr. Bryan, I believe, expects the circulation of his weekly magazine, The Commoner, to go to 1,000,000 subscribers. This would yield him a net personal profit of $280,000 per year." He is willing to accept the statement of The Commoner that it has a present circulation of 145,000 copies weekly, and he estimates that its profits from sales and advertising now reach the very respectable sum of $60,000 annually. That is doing pretty well. But "if Mr. Bryan's fond hopes, as expressed in circulars now being mailed to advertisers by The Commoner office, are realized, his net profit derived from The Commoner alone during the year 1908 will be at the annual rate of $280,000."

The business office of The Commoner clearly sees the advantage of capitalizing Mr. Bryan. If he is nominated, circulation will jump. In a letter from Mr. Limeburner, the business manager of the paper, we find these reflections upon its expected prosperity:

> Inclose you our million-circulation circular. Mr. Bryan seems to be very optimistic regarding reaching that point before the year is over, and the stack of letters I saw coming in to the Lincoln office on my last visit there a short while ago indicate it will reach the mark. There is not a better medium to-day, pro rata cost, to carry your business in than The Commoner. It is one of the papers not affected by the new Post Office ruling.
> I believe, however, it is not necessary to explain any further to you regarding the matter, as you fully understand conditions that will make The Commoner a potent force this year for advertisers. It will be a good stroke of policy for you to get in, and get in at once, or else in a short time you will be up against higher rates.

Mr. Bryan is a fortunate man. He can face the future without the least anxiety. If nominated and elected, he will be far and away the richest President that ever occupied the White House. If nominated and not elected, he will still have the comfortable $60,000 a year income, subject to natural increment. The only thing he has to fear is failure to get the nomination. That might have an unfavorable effect upon the business of The Commoner, and upon his lecture business, from which he derives some additional thousands of income.

Diligent and well-directed industry thus has its reward. Mr. Bryan is one of the hardest worked men in the country, not, to be sure, in the daily drudgery of The Commoner office, but in the larger and tributary labor of organizing his forces to get the nomination. Col. Harvey was wrong, evidently, when he insisted that newspaper editors should keep out of politics. Politics is a gold mine for The Commoner and for Mr. Bryan.

TRANSIT THEORY AND FACT.

In his argument before the Governor against the rapid transit law amendments Mr. Tomkins, as the spokesman of an important organization, contended that municipal construction was necessary to get unprofitable lines of transit built. Private capital, urged Mr. Tomkins, will confine itself to highly profitable lines of subways, like the Broadway and Lexington Avenue lines in Manhattan, while an irresistible public sentiment will demand that public funds be used for the purchase of such unprofitable works as the Belmont tunnel, and the construction of such unprofitable lines as the Fourth Avenue in Brooklyn. The fat should go with the lean, says Mr. Tomkins, and the profitable portions of routes should be utilized to promote the construction of unprofitable.

But if private capital will not venture in unprofitable undertakings, how comes it that the Belmont tunnel exists to be bought? And if the principle of taking fat and lean together is good at all, why is it not as good for private construction as for public? In other words, Mr. Tomkins begs the question when he urges that private capital should be repelled in order to promote municipal transit enterprises. There are those who think that private capital should be invited in order to check municipal enterprise. Happily it is not necessary to argue these questions theoretically merely, we have an example of their in practice in Cleveland, where the fruits of municipal enterprise are even now being gathered in a manner that has a distinct bearing on Mr. Tomkins's argument.

According to the local journals, one of the first proposals after the victory of the Cleveland transit reformers is to abolish all service except the profitable portions. The Mayor even contends that six or seven lines ought to be torn up. The 3-cent lines are now the people's enterprise, and they must be made to pay, as they would not if too many burdens were put upon the "plugger" lines, which should stop running. Moreover, municipal lines are not released from the tyranny of balance sheets by their public character, and the city 3-cent lines are in conspicuous troubles with their men, who are conducting the argument against the reduction of wages with the help of dynamite. Arguments of this sort are always painful enough, but they are doubly so when the employés are in the public service, and the contention assumes a political tone. Economic debates are not conducted advantageously at the polls.

Before the argument for 3-cent fares takes root here it is well to note the sequel in Cleveland, where one of the suburbs held a "red hot" meeting in favor of 1-cent fares. Many excited citizens offered to take shares on the spot, to the accompaniment of shouts that they would teach Tom Johnson how to run cheap cars. Accordingly there is a chance of competition for the city lines, whose stock is watered in comparison with any new line. We are not encouraged to hope that these enthusiastic East Clevelandites will succeed where a like experiment here failed. They are proposing to generate electricity for the 1-cent car lines by the burning of rubbish, and it will be remembered that private enterprise was able to produce cheaper electricity here by burning coal.

Still we would not discourage these Cleveland innovators, for the moral effect of their enterprise is most useful here, whether it succeeds or fails. Meanwhile we would suggest to Mr. Tomkins that he inquire into the results of city ownership of transit facilities as far as it has gone. The city owns interborough links of travel which have cost many scores of millions, and which have the capacity of producing either better results in travel or in profits. Here is the "fat" which might be used to energize much "lean." But the city is getting the lean, while private capital gets the fat. The theoretical part of Mr. Tomkins's argument seems to conflict with the practical and with the facts, both in Cleveland and here.

PUBLIC INTEREST IN THE POLICE.

In the current number of The North American Review Police Commissioner Bingham, summing up the needs of his department, concludes with this appeal to the community:

> The Police Committee of Fifty did valuable service a year ago in assisting to secure the legislation by which the Commissioner has been able to begin some practical reforms in the Police Department, as it is now doing with respect to other measures at Albany, but it is the plain duty of every good citizen to familiarize himself with the work that is being done for the better government of his own city, and personally to do all that is possible to help that work along.

The efforts of the City Club and the Police Committee of Fifty are ancillary; they depend for their success and justification upon a public response. The Commissioner dwells upon the fact that, while expenditures for the public schools have increased 109 per cent. since 1899, indicating that the community is alive to the dangers of ignorance in its foreign population, its support of the Police Department, burdened with 80 per cent. of all malefactors of foreign birth, has steadily fallen in per capita disbursements. He points out that the physical conformation of the city, subdivided by water, in parts densely populated, sparsely settled in other parts, further hampers its patrol, the apportionment of which—one to 547 inhabitants—is scant compared with that of any other great city in this country or abroad. With these difficulties in mind, Mr. Bingham complained some six months ago, and he still complains:

> In the Spring of 1906 I asked for 2,000 men, and I was given 607. In 1907 I asked for 1,400, and I got 600. I am short 800 men now, and by the time I get them I shall need 1,400. We never catch up. With an increasing population in New York of nearly half a million a year, this department must also increase proportionately—but it doesn't.

To the Commissioner and to the Committee of Fifty, doubtless, his statements denote an alarming condition. But they have thus far failed to come home to men's business and bosoms. Could every citizen whose life has been threatened, whose house has been pillaged, whose wife and family have suffered the loss of personal possessions to which they attach a sentimental value, and who fear to walk abroad at night, be made concretely to see the relation between the city's failure to provide an adequate patrol and his own misfortunes, the Commissioner would not longer complain of a lack of interest.

Mr. Bingham may invoke, if he will, not only the aid of citizens unselfishly devoted to the right conduct of municipal affairs—aid which, unsupported by the public, is measurably impotent—but the peculiar interest of every storekeeper and every householder in this city and its suburbs. He has their individual, and, therefore, ineffectual, complaints in his keeping. Let him select sample outlying blocks and districts in which the increase of population exceeds the rated increase of patrolmen; let the complaints from these districts be catalogued a year apart, say, for the first quarter of 1907 and the first quarter of 1908, with comparisons made of the city's neglect as reflected in the records of crime. Let the names of complainants be published, so that they may know their strength and that their neighbors may observe their numbers.

It may be objected that the publication would furnish a directory for crime—that criminals would be officially told what parts of the city are vulnerable. The citizens would be told, not the thieves. The thieves, organized and vigilant, have long known these vulnerable neighborhoods, but the citizens, being put on notice, would thus be on their guard against them. The Commissioner might also reasonably disclaim responsibility for completely safeguarding the exposed districts until enough patrolmen shall be provided.

According to a plan such as it has tentatively outlined, The Times suggests that the Police Commissioner, the City Club, and the Police Committee of Fifty might, by conference and appropriate action, do a substantial service to the citizens of New York, who are uninformed of the extent to which the lack of police facilities is exposing their lives and property.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Confessed Under Torture.

Prof Muensterberg's latest book, "On the Witness Stand," contains a chapter headed "False Confessions," which should be carefully read, not only by the New Jersey detectives and prosecuting officials who are investigating the Sheppard murder, but also by everybody who is disposed to assume that because the man Zastera has admitted the perpetration of the triple crime its mystery is solved. Possibly it is, for, of course, there are true confessions as well as false ones, and the latter are undoubtedly rare as compared with the former, but if the published accounts of how this confession was extorted are correct it is altogether worthless as legal evidence, and it should be taken with great caution even as the foundation for a private and irresponsible opinion.

Zastera was continuously and sternly interrogated for many hours, one questioner relieving another until the man's brain was reeling with weariness, and its demand for rest, no matter how obtained, became imperative. This is, in effect, torture, and its product, like that of the hardly less severe torture by the infliction of physical pain, is utterly untrustworthy. It must be remembered, too, that every question asked by the inquisitors was a "suggestion" in the modern sense of that word, and there is no improbability in the theory that what Zastera "confessed" was merely the story which was reiterated to him again and again as what he "must" have done.

Perhaps, in the end, he even believed it. That has happened often in similar cases, for criminal history abounds with instances of confessions later proved to be untrue, and it contains hundreds of cases in which impossible crimes—witchcraft, for example—were confessed by persons who, not content with admitting all the charges brought against them, proceeded to fill out the "suggested" story with details of their own manufacture and to do it with every evidence of believing what they said. Zastera, an ignorant man, whose mental instability is hinted by his faith in cartomancy, may well be one of those of whom Prof. Muensterberg says that by the application of sufficient pressure they can be made to confess anything.

The circumstances make it fair to suspect Zastera of committing the murders, but a really adequate motive seems to be wanting, and his conduct in remaining on the farm and summoning the neighbors is not quite to be expected from a man of his type. Almost always the impulse of flight prevails, and to reason out the greater safety of taking the opposite of the common course is ability. He may be guilty, but his own testimony against himself is without value, and no court would or should accept it.

Royalty in Revolt.

Under the long-established and well-recognized rules and regulations of the game he is playing, of course the young King of Portugal ought to marry the Princess selected for him by his family and Ministers, with a view to strengthening the position of his house and country. Despite his youth, he was quite old enough when he assumed the crown so solemnly a few weeks ago to know that among the prices he would be expected to pay for that toy and the privileges that go with it was that of abandoning the right to follow his own preferences in the choice of a wife, and for him now to express an "unalterable determination" to marry a young woman who happens to please him as a man or else to marry nobody, properly excites the indignation of all those who take the King business seriously.

For it is a deliberate violation of accepted obligations, and the King who subordinates reasons of State to his personal inclination in a matter of this sort not only deserves but will receive the severest reprehension as unfaithful to the customs of his order. Many members of that order, by the way, would elude the difficulty in a way also long established and well recognized in the royal game, but Manuel is probably too young to remember that he has a left hand as well as a right, and he wouldn't do it anyhow if, as seems to be the case, he is a decent youth and honestly in love with the daughter of his mother's lady in waiting. That occasionally makes a difference, even in royal circles.

Were Manuel really of a thoughtful turn of mind, however, he might find in European history excuses for attacking his advisers with other than the sentimental arguments to which they will ascribe no weight whatever. He might, that is, deny that the welfare of his country in any large degree depends upon his making an alliance with another reigning family. Great importance is, indeed, ascribed to such unions by tradition and convention, but they have very often failed to serve their intended purpose. To mention only the most notable instance, Napoleon trusted to one of them in vain.

In these days, when kingly powers are so much restricted by Constitutions and the common people almost everywhere have opinions and the ability to enforce them, it is more than slightly doubtful if it makes much real difference whom a King marries—much difference to anybody except himself, that is. It might be that the display of the one human feeling which arouses the most of sympathy would do more for Manuel in the way of making himself popular and his rule efficient than would a marriage prompted only by politics. For that, when the best has been said for it, remains an unnatural and repugnant thing. Our own impression is that, while Manuel would get much praise of a sort if he sacrificed his own wishes, he would be generally considered more of a man if he stuck to them obstinately.

Is He Frank or Is He Only Foolish?

However it may be with other Socialists, J. Bayard Collins is not only sure that Socialism means a distribution of the property of those who have among those who have not, but he openly expresses that opinion, and, transmuting hope into belief, declares that "several hundred men and women of great wealth on Fifth Avenue" are almost ready to begin the great work of giving away their fortunes!

It may be, however, that Mr. Collins is a humorist. No other Socialist ever was, which fact makes against that supposition, but how else is his statement to be taken? Viewed seriously, it is a betrayal of his associates in the cult, for they all vehemently deny having any such expectation or desire as his, and at least pretend to see its crude impracticability as plainly as anybody else does.

MEN SUFFRAGIST CONVERTS.

Roosevelt, Taft, Bryan, Gov. Johnson, and Justice Brewer Named.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

That spectacular announcement of fair anti-suffragists of New York—that they have secured two members of President Roosevelt's Cabinet, several United States Senators, Judges of the Supreme Court, and university professors to conduct two courses of anti-suffrage lectures at Berkeley Lyceum and Cooper Union, induced THE TIMES to come out to-day with an unilluminating editorial concluding: "That the silent woman has enlisted in her cause the support of the best men of the Nation is an augury of her success."

This list of unnamed personages looks pretentious enough, but the suffragists, may it be remembered, have a few notable friends among the men folk. President Roosevelt and most of the Presidential possibilities have openly declared for the enfranchisement of the fair sex. President Roosevelt, as a member of the New York Legislature, repeatedly voted for woman suffrage; as Governor of New York he recommended it in his inaugural message to the Legislature; and several times since—when a delegation of prominent suffragists descended upon him at the White House three months ago, for instance—he has reiterated his belief in the cause. Less than three months ago Secretary Taft said at Carnegie Hall, in answer to the question "Would you, if elected President, favor woman's suffrage," replied: "When I was a schoolboy, my first paper was on woman's suffrage. I was a strong advocate of it at that time, and I have not changed my mind." The Hon. William Jennings Bryan has lately expressed the same opinion. Gov. John V. Johnson of Minnesota, another Presidential candidate, recently said, over his own signature: "I have repeatedly, in public and private, declared my belief in woman's suffrage."

Then there are others; in fact, the foremost American men have always come out squarely for woman's suffrage. Twelve years before the first woman's rights convention in the world, that at Seneca Falls in 1848, Abraham Lincoln said: "I go for all sharing the privileges of the Government who assist in bearing its burdens, by no means excluding women." Said Charles Sumner: "In the progress of civilization, woman's suffrage is sure to come." Said Henry Ward Beecher: "We need the participation of woman in the ballot box." Said Theodore Parker: "I believe in the admission of women to the full rights of citizenship." Said William Lloyd Garrison: "Women are as much interested in legislation as men, and are entitled to representation." Said Phillips Brooks: "I am in favor of woman's suffrage." Said Ralph Waldo Emerson: "It is very cheap wit that finds it so droll that woman should vote." Said John Greenleaf Whittier: "For over forty years I have declared for equal rights and privileges of citizenship, irrespective of sex." And so this list, with names if you please, might be indefinitely prolonged to include such well-known advocates as John Stuart Mill, George William Curtis, James Freeman Clarke, Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, Wendell Phillips, Charles Kingsley, Thomas B. Reed, John Graham Brooks, Thomas Wentworth Higginson, David T. Brewer, John D. Long, and other illustrious men of our immediate day.

Furthermore, inasmuch as the masculine legislatures in thirteen countries—thirteen, mind you—have already bestowed upon the fair sex full suffrage, every suffrage except parliamentary, or municipal suffrage, it is not in this instance an "augury of success," it is success.

"A HOUSE DIVIDED."

The Three-Cent New York Herald Gives Advice to the One-Cent Evening Telegram.

From The New York Herald, May 18.

There is a deal of common sense in the advice that is given to the unhappy publishers of one-cent newspapers by Robert W. Patterson, the editor of the Chicago Tribune. Here it is, as conveyed in The Herald's special cables to-day from London, where the editor of our esteemed contemporary is sojourning at present, but is ready to give this kindly and helping hand to his "one-cent" journalistic brothers in their hour of trouble:

> There is one remedy for publishers of one-cent newspapers who are demanding that Congress should remove the duty from wood pulp and white paper. That is to raise the price of their newspapers.

What could more resemble that admirable mental commodity, "horse sense," than this sound advice of Mr. Patterson? It indicates a direct cut across lots out of financial difficulty.

Disloyal Orangemen.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

That the Orange Society of Ireland is opposed to what are known as the Fenian Societies is undoubtedly true, but that it is loyal to the British Crown is very far-fetched reasoning. I myself can positively assure you, and if necessary, state it upon oath, that at the Orange Lodge meeting, held in the County Monaghan, or, to be still more exact, at Aghadrunsee in 1879, upon the 12th day of July, the members absolutely refused to drink the late Queen Victoria's health, and this is by no manner of means an isolated case.

My experience with the Orange Society is that they are great talkers, bully drinkers, and not a bad sort of bodies when you can get them away from politics, and are, generally speaking, except about the 12th of July, sober and industrious. They devote their time to their farms and to developing their industries, which, to an Irishman, is a course that it is regretted the so-called Fenians do not follow. It would insure them an amount of comfort and prosperity that, unfortunately, they are not at present or have not been for many a long year enjoying.

One-Half $35.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Statistics have been gathered and published proving that the average salary of the vast army of clerical workers is less than $1,200 per year; in fact, I think it was placed at $900 or $1,000. Now, if THE TIMES could induce some philosopher to write an article based upon practical experience, as to how a couple could live in New York on one-half of $35 per week, it would appeal to such a multitude of married folks, and even to many in a contemplative mood, that when notice was given to the public of the date of publication of the advice, there would be such a demand that those desiring a copy would order it about a month in advance, or else stand in line at THE TIMES office, at Times Square, and get it "hot off the griddle."

THE NEW ELECTRIC LAMPS.

Engineer Points Out Their Advantages Under Certain Conditions.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I read with interest your article in to-day's TIMES dealing with the economical features of the "New Electric Lamps." As it is in the interest of the public to convey a correct idea about everything pertaining to general utility, I feel obliged to call your attention to the following facts:

The new electric lamps, the Tantalum lamp as well as especially the Tungsten lamp, must be considered one of the most important attainments of our century, for they mark a step forward in the methods of light production which will enable us to illuminate our houses at a three-fold cheaper rate than hitherto.

The lamps are, however, still in an initial state of development, and have therefore quite a number of drawbacks, which must be considered by everybody intending to replace his old sixteen candle power lamps by new units. It is true that the Tantalum lamp cannot be purchased at a lower candle power than twenty candles, the Tungsten lamp even not below twenty-five candles. One must bear in mind, however, that a twenty-five candle power Tungsten lamp requires only fifty watts of electrical energy, which is the same as consumed by the old sixteen candle power lamp; moreover, the life of the Tungsten lamp is twice as long as that of the old lamp.

It is true, furthermore, that the new lamps are somewhat more fragile and ought to be handled with care. The initial cost of a single Tungsten lamp is higher than that of a single 16 candle power lamp; nevertheless it is incorrect to say that nothing will be saved by the new electric lamps as they are sold at the present time.

Of course, in cases where sufficient illumination is obtained by a lamp of 16 candles or less, the new lamps drop out of the discussion; but in a dining room, for example, where, as a rule, three 16 candle power lamps are required, one Tungsten lamp of 48 candles will give a more economical and satisfactory illumination. The cost of the three 16 candle power lamps, including one renewal per year, will amount to 48 cents per year of 900 burning hours, and the cost for electrical energy of these three lamps at a rate of 10 cents per kilowatt hour consuming fifty watts each, will be $13.50 per year, giving a total of $13.98 for the illumination of the dining room per year with the three old 16 candle power lamps. Using the Tungsten lamp instead, only one lamp will be required per year; the initial cost will be $1.25 and the annual light bill will amount to $5.40 for a 60-watt lamp of 900 hours at the rate of 10 cents per kilowatt hour, giving a total of $6.65 for the illumination of the dining room per year by one Tungsten lamp.

This shows that in such a case as the above more than 50 per cent. of the actual expense can be saved by the adoption of a new illuminant. It must be added, however, that of course it will be more difficult and perhaps also more expensive to secure the advantages of the new illuminants by alterations in an existing electric installation than to install the lamp in a new house where the conditions can be most advantageously adapted to the requirements of the new illuminant.

GALLERY NOTES.

High Quality of Many Paintings in National Arts Club Exhibit.

The exhibition just opened at the National Arts Club Galleries of painting, sculpture, and illustration by former pupils of the Art Students' League is an interesting tribute to the influence of that school upon American art. Some of the most important names on the long list of American artists are those of league students, and enough are there to give the note of authority. More than 125 works in different mediums are shown.

While the collection bears the marks of the haste in which it was brought together, the average quality is distinctly high. Mr. Robert Reid has sent two of the handsomest of the canvases shown this season, "The Gold Screen" and the "Spirit of the Flame," the former a particularly lovely portrayal of young womanhood—a girl seated rather against the background of the screen from which the picture takes its name, her white dress made golden by the sunlight and her face in half-tone. The drawing of the figure is remarkable for its delicacy and force.

Mr. R. H. Nisbet has several canvases, among them his portrait of the old colonial house which appears in Mr. Metcalf's "May Night" and has been a favorite theme with artists. The house is painted with much richness of color. The "Idyll," by the same painter, has often been shown before and is always a welcome feature of a collection.

Mr. C. Y. Turner shows his admirable portrait of Walter Shirlaw, seated, with a cigarette between his fingers, against a white background, and a "Study of the Peggy Stewart." Mrs. Ella Condie Lamb is represented by an attractive child's portrait and by her subject picture, "Luncheon," in which the animated character of the dogs is worthy of especial note. Mr. Louis Loeb shows his "Twilight," two figures significant of evening and full day, in a decorative landscape. Mrs. Louise Cox has the beautiful child's portrait which she painted in 1896. The demure charm of the execution and color has never been surpassed in the later work of the artist.

Mr. F. Luis Mora's portrait of a woman in brown occupies a prominent place on the walls, which it well deserves. These are only a few of the pictures that claimed attention at a first view. Others not less interesting will receive later notice. It has been decided to keep the exhibition open two weeks.

PENSIONS FOR TWO WOMEN.

Their Husbands Were Army Surgeons Who Died Investigating Yellow Fever.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 18.—The House to-day passed unanimously a bill introduced by Representative Dalzell of Pennsylvania providing a pension of $125 a month to Mrs. Jennie McGorge Lucas Carroll, widow of Major James Carroll, a Surgeon in the army, and a pension of the same amount to Mrs. Mabel H. Lazear, widow of Dr. Jesse W. Lazear, late acting Assistant Contract Surgeon in the army. Both of the doctors died of yellow fever contracted while making experiments on themselves to fight the disease in Cuba.

THE LATEST FAD.

The treatment by vegetables is the latest dietetic fad in England. Carrots are supposed to develop good temper, potatoes the reasoning faculties, &c.—News note.

If your reasoning's thick as mud,
Take a well-developed spud.
If you have a sluggish wit,
Carrots will develop it.
Spinach brings a great will power,
(Boil it hard for half an hour.)
Beans—the French kind—predispose
To a lovely dreamy doze,
While those known as haricot,
We are told, will surely go
Far to raise a good effect
On your blunted intellect.
That's the treatment dietetic
Largely used by the aesthetic.
If an Anglomaniac,
Take of each a little snack,
And let the little stomach elves
Fight it out among themselves.

PAPERMAKERS DENY ANY FURTHER RISE

Manufacturing Head of International Company Says $2.50 Is Top Figure.

OUTPUT WAS NOT CUT

The Representative of the Publishers Says Manila Pool Profits Were $4,835,652 in 26 Months.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 18.—The paper manufacturers who appeared before the House select committee to-day spent about six hours in a defensive struggle. Their whole energies were directed toward refuting portions of the testimony of John Norris of THE NEW YORK TIMES, and toward staving off some of the inferences Mr. Norris drew from his own direct testimony.

W. A. Whitcomb of the International Paper Company resumed his testimony this morning. He denied that the so-called Paper Trust contemplated a further advance of the price of paper to 3 cents a pound. He declared under oath that $2.50 a hundred pounds was the top notch of the price the manufacturers had in mind.

Referring to the subject of the cost of labor, he said that it was apparent that the trust had tried to sell paper at less than cost, and had subsequently been forced to put the price up.

"Do you know whether there is any combination, agreement, or understanding among the paper manufacturers to restrict the output in order to hold up prices, or for any other reason?" asked Chairman Mann.

"I believe there is none whatever," replied Mr. Whitcomb. "At least we have none."

The witness stated that twenty-four mills are shut down. He said that the company was overstocked last year, but the consumption of paper has begun to increase.

Regarding the output of paper, which Mr. Norris asserted had been reduced since the foundation of the International Paper Company, the witness said there had been an increase of 10 per cent. since 1900.

Owned Their Own Homes.

To refute the assertion of Mr. Norris that the International Paper Company was not paying equitable wages, Mr. Whitcomb submitted a list of 254 employes of the Hudson River Mills, one of the properties of the International, who own homes at Palmer's Falls, N. Y., which they have bought with their earnings from the company.

Arthur T. Safford of Lowell, Mass., consulting engineer of the International, testified that the value of the water power of the company was $9,303,855. He estimated that if the company did not own its water power it would have to pay an annual rental of $1,250,000.

Mr. Lyman, assistant to the President of the International Paper Company, testified that "the statement that the International Paper Company borrowed $5,000,000 in 1905, with which to build ten machines, and diverted it to other uses, is absolutely untrue."

Ferris J. Meigs, Manager and Vice President of the Santa Clara Lumber Company of New York, said he thought the International Paper Company owned about 260,000 acres of woodland in New York State, 60,000 of which was virgin forest, and the remainder of second cuts of timber. He estimated the land to be worth about $35 an acre for virgin forest and from $10 to $12.50 an acre for second-cut land.

Warren Curtis, formerly in charge of the construction work of the International Paper Company, and one of its Directors, testified in regard to the value of the mill plants of the company, which was given in the statement submitted Saturday at $38,350,000. This amount, he said, he thought rather low in one respect, namely, that it gave $22,500 per ton as the cost of a 100-ton plant complete to make paper. He thought it should be $25,000 per ton.

Large Net Profits.

Chairman Mann read a telegram from John Norris, the representative of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association, dated New York, Saturday, reading in part as follows:

> The Brownsville Paper Company, of which George W. Sherman is President, was in fibre and manila pool, and participated in its profits. S. A. Upham represented Brownville Paper Company at association meetings. I have come into possession of copies of minutes of Fibre and Manila Association showing transactions in the fibre and manila pool covering receipts exceeding $4,500,000. Also sales of 853,677 tons of invoice value of $32,000,000, with net profits of $4,835,652 in 26 2-3 months. Also report of Auditing Committee of Dec. 4, 1907, indicating that Fibre and Manila Association was bearing only a percentage of office expenses borne by a number of associations. I understand that matter submitted to the New York Grand Jury has been forwarded to Washington, but an interval of one month must elapse before an indictment will be framed, because Washington officials are slow in passing upon the papers in such cases.

Tom T. Walter, Second Vice President and General Manager of the sales department of the International Paper Company, denied that any combination exists to raise the price of paper or to curtail its production. He put in the record a table of the average gross selling price of the International Paper Company from 1900 to 1907, representing the price in the first year named to have been $2.06 per 100 pounds and in 1907 $2.05. For January, February, and March of this year the average price was $2.20.

Mr. Walter told of the scarcity of paper in 1907, and said the reason certain contracts with publishers were not renewed was because the company did not have the paper to sell.

Mr. Walter denied that the International Paper Company had ever been a member of any pool or that it had received any benefits from any pool. Mr. Walter read a statement showing that advertising in the newspapers has declined during the past year and said that was the reason the papers were not using so much paper.

"It makes it doubly hard for the publisher," said Chairman Mann, "the fact that his advertising is getting away and the price of paper is going up. It is burning the candle at both ends."

"I believe it is a very bad time for the newspapers to have to meet this advance," replied Mr. Walter.

ATTACKS BRYAN IN HOUSE.

Burke Questions His Sincerity in Desiring Passage of Publicity Bill.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 18.—Representative J. Francis Burke of Pennsylvania, assistant Republican whip of the House, made a sharp attack on William Jennings Bryan in a speech on the floor of the House this morning. Mr. Burke questioned the Nebraskan's demand for the enactment of a publicity bill.

"Mr. Bryan appeared for the bill, and immediately after the hearing gave out an interview in The Commoner, saying that money was being used to hurt his chances at Denver," said Mr. Burke.

"This charge being very pertinent to the hearings on the Campaign Publicity bill, Mr. Bryan was asked to give the names of the persons to whom he had referred. He refused to give publicity to these facts at his command. I think that answers the question as to his sincerity very well."

A Near-Comic Opera at Wallack's with Some Fresh Touches.

These are the days when the modest violet comes forth to get his, and—usually—gets it; but seldom so pleasantly and with so much genuine good feeling as at Wallack's last night. There was a warm welcome for Julian Edwards of the silver locks when he appeared in the Director's chair, but even the presence of Ralph Edmunds of the Metropolitan failed to give the cue as to the identity of the makers of the book of "The Gay Musician," until the Mr. Siedle of the combination of authors walked forth on the stage. Then it was out.

Even the Metropolitan has secrets that Summer alone may disclose. It was none other than Mr. Conried's erstwhile property master, who, between the making of practical swans and fire-breathing dragons, had plunged right into literature and a comic opera book. There, too, on Mr. Edwards's left hand (Mr. Siedle had the right) was Charlie Campbell, more silvery than of yore, but still able to carry a tenor rôle in the cast in addition to being part author of the book.

And "The Gay Musician"? Well, for once the name is fairly descriptive. It is a lively, tuneful little piece, that for one act anyhow is near-comic-opera—a good deal nearer than the average musical comedy comes—with a plot that did not get lost until the second act, and actually was found again before that was over; so the right people were properly mated, and in the meantime an amusing thread for Mr. Edwards very agreeable tunes had been provided. These tunes in turn took the form of solos, quartettes, and octettes, with some ingenious arranging by the composer, and several novel and pleasant innovations in the way of stage business and acting. One wouldn't describe either of the authors as a wit exactly, but the book is not inane, which is something to be mentioned.

There is a quartet in the first act which a prima donna adventuress, carrying on a flirtation (in song) with the hero of the story, a young composer, is overheard by the latter's wife and his mother-in-law, who, watching from set-cottage windows above, join in at proper intervals with protestations and expostulations. Also the mother-in-law tosses a flowerpot at the prima donna, but that is a mere detail. It is a capital little number. In the same act there is also a novel song in which the composer, while wielding the baton, gives advice to the chorus about the singing of a number in his new opera, and goes through the familiar throes of a maddening rehearsal in characteristic fashion, musically conveyed. With the tenor, Mr. Percival, and the soprano, Miss Stone, having such opportunities, no now remains for big Mr. Miron, with his big voice, to announce in his deep-sounding way how badly he has been treated, a moving recital, as Mr. Miron, it appears, had been a trusting old salt-water slob (he so describes himself) who resisted all sorts of temptation, ranging from seductive mermaidens to an amorous cannibal queen, and remained true to his first love, now—the mother-in-law.

Then there is a catchy conversational song (after The Soul-Kiss manner) in which each kind of unpleasant person is labeled, for no particular reason that could be discovered, "A Cup of Tea," and there are a couple of rollicking finales, the first very badly led up to by a scene in which the fat mother-in-law is introduced in circus rider's tarlatans, which is obviously intended to be funny, but is, in reality, a damper on an otherwise excellent act.

Mr. Percival has a sweetish personality which is not for all tastes, and he struggles with a French dialect and a George Beban explosiveness which do not fit him particularly well, but he has a light and pleasing voice and fills the rôle of the composer as well as is usual in this type of entertainment, while Miss Stone, as the prima donna, is equally familiar with the requirements and equally able to meet them.

Miss Sophie Brandt, the wife, is very charming in manner and in voice, and she acts well. Mr. Miron may always be counted on. Martha George is Echt Deutch on dialect. The chorus is stronger on voice than looks, but contains several pretty faces. Edward Martindell has a voice of good quality, but should not try to dance and cannot act, and the reason for Mr. Wellsley is not apparent. Olga von Hatzfeld shows improvement, but is hardly justified in doing a solo dance. Still, as it stands "A Gay Musician" is a very nice entertainment and ought to attract the Summer crowd.

FOOD.

FEEDING FOR HEALTH.

Directions by a Food Expert.

A complete change in food makes a complete change in the body. Therefore if you are ailing in any way the surest road back to health is to change your diet. Try the following breakfast for ten days and mark the result.

Two soft boiled eggs, (if you have a weak stomach, boil the eggs as follows: put two eggs into a pint tin cup of boiling water, cover and set off the stove. Take out in nine minutes; the whites will be the consistency of cream and partly digested. Don't change the directions in any particular.) some fruit, cooked or raw, cooked preferred, a slice of toast, a little butter, four heaping teaspoonfuls of Grape-Nuts with some cream, a cup of properly boiled Postum Food Coffee.

The Grape-Nuts breakfast food is fully and scientifically cooked at the factory, and both that and the Postum have the diastase (that which digests the starchy part) developed in the manufacture. Both the food and the coffee, therefore, are predigested and assist, in a natural way, to digest the balance of the food. Lunch at noon the same.

For dinner in the evening use meat and one or two vegetables. Leave out the fancy desserts. Never overeat. Better a little less than too much.

If you can use health as a means to gain success in business or in a profession it is well worth the time and attention required to arrange your diet to accomplish the result. Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a Reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

Conductor, G. Merola.

Still another Summer opera company sailed into New York at the Majestic Theatre last evening, opening with Verdi's perennial "Traviata." The Knickerbocker Opera Company is the name of the organization, and Adelina Padovani, coloratura soprano, is its chief light.

This singer had been hailed as greater than Tetrazzini and Melba, and it is said that she has won great success in the opera houses of New Orleans and San Francisco. Her voice has something of a pleasant quality, and she might have pleased as a Summer singer at popular prices if she had not been praised too extravagantly in advance. However, it must be stated that her voice is worn, that her coloratura is somewhat ragged, and that when she is not forcing her tones she scarcely emits any sound at all.

The rest of the company was of the usual level to be expected from organizations of this class, but the orchestra under G. Merola, former chorus director at the Manhattan Opera House, played very well.

The audience was very large and extremely enthusiastic, and it is certain from its attitude that Mme. Padovani will win a certain number of admirers during her stay here.

LAUGHTER AT THE ACADEMY.

Mr. Sothern as Lord Dundreary Is Again Warmly Received.

At the Academy of Music last night Mr. E. H. Sothern, acting Lord Dundreary, was greeted with much enthusiasm by a large audience.

Mr. Sothern's "Lord Dundreary" is a genuinely humorous figure. That fact is chiefly responsible for the success of the revival, for the play itself is of a type that has ceased to be of any great value for our audiences. But with the eccentric figure of the blundering Baronet practically monopolizing every scene it provides genial and attractive entertainment.

"Lord Dundreary" is to be continued throughout this week, with matinées on Wednesday and Saturday. Next week, it is announced, Mr. Sothern and his company will appear in Justin Huntly McCarthy's play, "If I Were King."

HELP FOR IDLE ACTORS.

The Golden Gate Professional Club to Give Aid to Stranded Californians.

The published statement of the discouraging outlook for members of the theatrical profession has brought forth a line from a member of the Golden Gate Professional Club to the effect that the club will look after the interests of Californians who belong to that organization. The club was formed more for the benefit it can offer those in need of assistance than for a social purpose. Its object is to aid both men and women of California, but chiefly young girls who are stranded away from home. Mrs. Beaumont Packard is the President and Mrs. Lou Bates Secretary.

DINNER AT ARROW HEAD

Arrangements for the Lewis-Thorne Wedding—Marriage of Miss Lucy Inman.

A large crowd gathered late yesterday afternoon at the Holland House to see the new public coach, the Magnet, start on its initial trip from the Holland to Fort Washington.

Mrs. Thomas Hastings, President of the Ladies' Four-in-Hand Driving Club, had chartered the Magnet for its first run to Arrow Head Inn, and held the ribbons over the four bays.

Starting promptly at 5:30 o'clock, Mrs. Hastings tooled the coach up Fifth Avenue, stopping at the Plaza, and also at the Claremont on the way. The Magnet reached the Arrow Head Inn at 6:35 o'clock, where Mrs. Hastings entertained her guests at dinner.

The party included Miss Anne Morgan, daughter of J. Pierpont Morgan, who occupied the box seat; Miss Harriet Alexander, Miss Mary Harriman, who was picked up after the coach had left the Holland; Grosvenor Atterbury, Lawrence Butler, and Morris E. Hewlett, one of the owners of the coach, was also present.

After dinner, the return trip, with stops at the Claremont and the Plaza, were made, the coach reaching the Holland about 10 o'clock. Mrs. Henry Alexander has engaged the coach for May 27.

Not Engaged, Says Fritzi Scheff.

A Broadway rumor last night was to the effect that Fritzi Scheff, a divorcée of a few days, was engaged to a well-known American writer of short stories. The singer, when seen at Sherry's, denied the rumor emphatically.

"I am not engaged to any one," she laughed. "I wish that I were."

CAPT. SAMUELS DEAD.

Commanded the Dreadnought, Fastest Sailing Ship of Her Time.

Capt. Samuel Samuels, commander of the Dreadnought, the fastest sailing packet of her time, one of the last of the old deep-sea skippers and the author of "From the Forecastle to the Cabin," died yesterday at his home, 194 Clinton Street, Brooklyn.

Capt. Samuels was born in Philadelphia March 8, 1826. He went to sea at the age of 11, and in 1846 he had worked his way up from before the mast to Captain. He commanded Gov. E. D. Morgan's clipper ship Dreadnought, which had the reputation of being as fast as the best steamships of that day.

In 1859, Capt. Samuels's vessel made the 3,000-mile voyage from the Hook to Daunt's Rock in 13 days and 8 hours, and in 1860 she surpassed all previous records by going over the course from the Hook to Liverpool in 9 days and 17 hours.

In 1866 he commanded the steam packet Fulton, plying between this port and Havre. It was he who sailed the Henrietta when she beat the Fleetwing and Vesta from Sandy Hook to the Needles in 1866. He was skipper of James Gordon Bennett's yacht Dauntless when in 1870 she raced the Cambria across the North Atlantic. He also commanded the Dauntless when she raced the Coronet in 1887. He was President of the Samana Bay Company, a concern which failed because the United States did not take over the naval station. At the time of his death he was President of the Marine Journal Company. He leaves a wife and two daughters.

Death Follows Decayed Tooth.

George E. S. McKinnell, 35 years old, of McKinnell, Dietrich & Rawlins of 43 Exchange Place, died yesterday at the S. R. Smith Infirmary at New Brighton, Richmond. Death was due to pneumonia, following an operation which included the removal of the left jawbone, the trouble resulting in the operation having started from a diseased tooth. Mrs. McKinnell is so ill that she will leave for Liberty, N. Y., this morning without waiting for the funeral.

Ex-Police Chief Campbell Dead.

Patrick Campbell, who was for nearly a quarter of a century the head of the Police Department of the City of Brooklyn, died of paralysis late yesterday afternoon at his home, 90 Herkimer Street.

Obituary Notes.

HUGH TOLAND, a well-known actor, died suddenly yesterday at the home of his nephew in Philadelphia. You never watch the witching hour when Yanks and Tigers play. There is too much happening. As it was in the beginning of the series, so was it yesterday—the 10,000 eager ones who passed through the entrance gates gave never a thought to the flight of time until Niles, for New York, had gone out in the ninth inning, and then a consultation of watches showed that the last call for dinner had sounded in many a Harlem home.

The 11 to 6 against New York and the 20 minutes past 6 against New Yorkers interfered with many harmless domestic festivities peculiar to followers of the Highland laddies. When the home team scores over the outlanders, there is much to be said in extenuation of tardiness. The loving husband and father may point out that it was the victory of his townsmen which he paused to celebrate, and the boss must, in all loyalty, accept such explanation and add her rejoicings. But what is the word when the visitors score? Is it reasonable to suppose a right-minded New Yorker will linger longer than is absolutely necessary after it has been ascertained that the Tigers are uppermost and simply pawing their prey? It is bad enough that Detroit should be 6 and New York 2 in the second inning. But that this should be strengthened and lengthened to Detroit's 11 and New York's 6 in the ninth inning, is an eloquent commentary on the brutality to which a so-called sport may descend on occasion. Housewifely sympathy ceases at mention of such sad indiscretion, and there is little balm in Gilead or warmth in the English chops.

To those citizens whose viands were yesterday served cold Clark Griffith's hired men must answer. The top-notchers played like a primary school bunch, and seemed to be striving to see how many Tigers they could let claw themselves over the home plate. Mr. Chesbro's idea seemed to be that honor, glory, emolument, and advancement were for that pitcher who should allow most foemen to score, and according to his lights Mr. Chesbro won by a pair of city blocks. He let in six runs in the second inning, and this number was one more than his successors, Doyle and Newton, permitted in their collective endeavors. So Chesbro is entitled to distinction of some sort, and that second inning in which he pitched is entitled to a chapter all its own.

Cobb was up first for Detroits, and, as we all know, Cobb is some sort of a batsman, good enough last season to lead the League, and good enough yesterday to get to third on a fly to left which Stahl might have caught had not Stahl caught sight of Jim De Wolt, the old circus man, in the crowd, and essayed a backward dive, where a straight run would have answered the purpose. It costs games to show off.

Rossman singled, scoring Cobb. Later Rossman was put out at third. Coughlin beat a bunt. Schmidt found the ball and reached first. O'Leary hit past second base, scoring Coughlin. Mullin hit to left, scoring Schmidt and O'Leary. Were they finding the gentle pitcher? Oh, say not such!

McIntyre singled. Schaefer hit to centre, and Mullin came home. Crawford flied to left, and McIntyre ran after the catch, and crossed the plate. Cobb was hit, and walked, and Rossman hit, and on the return to third Cobb was put out. Canst count up as high as six?

You'd think there was little cause for visiting complaint in such an inning, yet Coughlin found fault with the umpire's decision regarding third base and a put-out. "Oh, go to the barn," said Umpire Hurst. "You annoy me." So Coughlin, saying things that are not to be printed as fit news, ambled off, and Downs sat in at Second and Schaefer moved to third. An inning previous Hurst had set Hughey Jennings down for speech idiosyncrasies that are best referred to in general terms. New York picked up a couple in the Highland half of the second, and then Doyle went in to pitch. He lasted up to half-past the eighth inning, and in this time acquitted himself well, striking out four men with his puzzling, much-belittled slow curve, and being compelled to retire in the middle of the inning, when he threw his arm out. One man, Downs, had gone out at first. Schmidt hit to centre and O'Leary singled, advancing Schmidt to third. Then Mullin hit to left, scoring Schmidt, and it was at this point Doyle's troubles culminated in his leaving the game. Newton went in for him, and, not to expose too immodestly the family skeleton, we yielded up four runs to Detroit in this eighth inning.

The only source of satisfaction open to the residenter lies in the performance of Mr. Downs, who succeeded the combative Coughlin. Downs played several times almost as poorly as the Yanks did all the time.

Williams's Wild Throw Spills Browns.

PHILADELPHIA, May 18.—In a game filled with bad pitching, hard hitting, and good fielding, the home team to-day defeated the St. Louis Americans by 12 to 10. Manager Mack used five pitchers, while the Browns tried three, the last, Criss, being very wild. In the eighth inning Philadelphia won when three men scored on a throw by Williams which bounded into the grand stand. Score:

Ailsa Craig in Bermuda Race.

Ailsa Craig, winner of last year's Bermuda power boat race, has just been entered for this year's contest, making the second entry received by the Motor Boat Club of America to date. The Ailsa Craig is 60 feet over all, and is equipped with a sixty horse power Craig engine. She will have to allow Irene II., the first entry, about 16 hours' handicap. In last year's race Idaho II. was beaten by only 34 minutes corrected time, and Ailsa Craig can go nearly four miles an hour faster than Irene II., which is equipped with an eighteen horse power Standard engine. The working of the handicap rule under which the boats race will be of considerable interest. The Ailsa Craig will have a crew of ten men, while the Irene will have but six. The race will be started from Gravesend Bay on the afternoon of June 6.

Blind Boys In Field Sports.

PITTSBURG, Penn., May 18.—That the blind can take part in athletic sports enjoyed by persons having sight was conclusively shown here to-day at the first annual field meet of the Western Pennsylvania Institute for the Blind. The field meet will be held yearly, and the results compared with those of other institutions which also held meets to-day.

CINCINNATI, May 18.—Judged by his performance in the last three games in which he has pitched, the star of Christy Mathewson has set. For the much-touted king of pitchers, "Matty," gave a miserable exhibition to-day, and for the third consecutive time was knocked out of the box. There was no excuse to offer, as Cincinnati pounded the Giants' twirler for fifteen safe hits in the seven innings in which he officiated, and won the game by the score of 9 to 5.

To redeem himself for his past performances, Mathewson requested the privilege of facing the Reds again. To-night McGraw is sorry he acceded to the request, and it was the irony of fate that the visitors should go down to defeat before Spade, one of Ganzel's youngsters. For two innings the Giants looked like they had recovered from the slump that has marked their Western trip, and would wreak revenge for past defeats. But this feeling disappeared in the fourth, when the red-leg batters beat out a merry tattoo and went into the lead by two runs.

The locals rested for two innings and the Giants drew up on even terms. The end came in the seventh, when, with Lobert on third and two men out, Schlei sent Lobert over the plate with a long, clean single, and the hitting was continued until five runs had been added to Cincinnati's score, the result of five singles and a triple. Mathewson was withdrawn after the fateful inning and Malarkey substituted, but the damage had been done and the Giants left Cincinnati to-night for Chicago, sadder but wiser ball players. The score:

At Fordham Field, 190th Street and Third Avenue, to-morrow, the Fordham University team will meet Columbia in the second game of the local series. The Bronx collegians have played wonderful ball this season, and have yet to lose a game on the home ground. On Thursday Fordham will no doubt have the hardest team of the season to play when they meet Notre Dame. The Westerners put up a fine game last season, and a good contest can be looked for.

Wind Spoils Women's Golf Play.

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland, May 18.—Play in the British women's open golf championship was begun on the historic links of St. Andrews to-day with an eighteen-hole stroke competition in which the five American players who have entered for the championship took part. The conditions were very difficult, and the strong wind that blew to-day made low scoring hard. Miss M. F. Phelps was the first American to finish, her score being 105. Miss Frances C. Griscom of Merion, the United States champion of 1900, who was particularly troubled by the wind, took 106 strokes to complete the course. The winner of the competition was Miss E. G. Suttie, with a score of 89. Many of the 138 players tore up their cards because their scores were so bad and did not turn them in.

CHAMPION CREW TO ROW.

Atalanta Eight of 1889 In Memorial Day Regatta.

At the weekly meeting of the Regatta Committee of the Harlem Regatta Association, held last night at the Harlem Casino, Chairman John J. F. Mulcahy announced that one of the features of the programme for the annual regatta on the Harlem River on Memorial Day would be an exhibition by the Atalanta Boat Club, world's champion eight-oared crew of 1889 and 1890, which won the title at Pullman, Ill., Aug. 4, 1889, and repeated the performance at Worcester, Mass., Aug. 14 of the following year. Capt. Freeman has been busy on a reunion of the members of the eight, all of whom are living, but distributed throughout the country. The men will row in the same positions in which they won the championship, and the event will be featured on the programme. The crew will row a time trial over the full course.

An effort will be made to secure the entry of the eight-oared crew of the Bachelors' Barge Club of Philadelphia to meet Columbia University and the New York Athletic Club in the senior eight-oared event. Harry Penn Burke, Commodore of the Middle States Regatta Association, is confident of securing the entry, and Chairman Mulcahy and J. A. Miller, Jr., President of the Harlem Regatta Association, will go to Philadelphia on Saturday for the American Rowing Association regatta for the purpose of obtaining the entry.

Entries for the regatta are slowly coming in owing to weather conditions of the past few weeks. Chairman Mulcahy stated that he had canvassed the Harlem River boat clubs on Sunday and received promises of many entries. The schoolboy race promises to bring out at least four crews, but the committee will try to secure two more. The crews entered are De Witt Clinton, Stuyvesant, Commerce, and Townsend Harris Hall.

EMBRYO GOLF CHAMPIONS.

Ninety Competitors Ready to Try for Metropolitan Title This Week.

Ninety entries representing twenty-three clubs have been received for the Metropolitan Golf Association championship tournament, which will begin to-morrow on the Baltusrol Club links, near Short Hills, N. J. The list includes an usually strong lot of golfers, virtually all of the notables in the local district being among the prospective contestants for the metropolitan title and the other prizes that will be awarded during the week.

Jerome D. Travers, who has held the championship for the last two years, will defend his title. He is entered as last year from the Montclair Club. Travers has been playing indifferent golf this season until last week, when he succeeded in showing something of his old-time form by winning the Lynnewood Cup in the Huntington Valley tournament, near Philadelphia. Walter J. Travis and Findlay S. Douglas, both ex-National as well as ex-metropolitan champions, will be among the formidable competitors.

Among the other prominent players will be:

George T. Brokaw, Garden City; Max Behr, Morris County; W. C. Carnegie, John Reid, Jr., and A. M. Robbins, St. Andrew's; James D. Foot, Apawamis; Charles B. MacDonald, Garden City; Howard Giffin, C. J. Sullivan, Charles Hitchcock, Jr., and Charles F. Watson, Baltusrol; John R. Maxwell, Jr., and F. C. Jennings, Nassau; Oswald Kirkby, Englewood; Gilman P. Tiffany, Powelton; E. L. Rhett, W. B. Rhett, Daniel Chauncey, and Charles H. Seely, Wee Burn; R. C. Watson, Westbrook, and Harold Wilcox, Montclair.

JUGGLER, SET BACK, MAKES GRAPPLE WIN

Disqualification of First Horse Gives Harlem Stakes to Farrell Gelding.

DORANTE TAKES HANDICAP

Gliding Belle and Rara Avis Are the Longest Chance Victors in Yesterday's Belmont Park Races.

The stake feature of the Belmont Park races yesterday was an odd contest with an odd result. Juggler, running much the best horse, finished first, but on a claim of foul in favor of Grapple the first horse was set back, the disqualification putting up Grapple as the winner and upsetting as many intended good things as the number of runners in the race made possible. The race was the Harlem Stakes, one mile selling, with twelve horses originally named to start, but the tips that were circulated about the contest reduced the field to the good things only, five of these running, with the three-year-old Spooner the post favorite and Rye, well backed by his stable connections, the outsider simply because there had to be an outsider.

Spooner went to the front at the raising of the barrier, and led to the last turn, where he ran out and lost so much ground as to bring Rye up into the lead, Juggler and Grapple, the last two to this point, there beginning to close. On the bend into the stretch, Juggler, going well out in the track, closed rapidly on Rye in front, while Grapple, hanging to the rail, closed on the inside. Juggler showed in front at the last furlong pole, where Grapple, after trying to pass Rye on the rail, was pulled out, and went around Rye at the same time that Juggler, then clear in front, swung over slightly to the rail. Shaw, on Grapple, was pulling away from Rye at the time, after crowding that horse to the fence. Juggler, holding his advantage in front, won cleverly by two and a half lengths, with Grapple second and Rye third.

Shaw made a claim that Juggler had fouled him, and though the only evident interference was caused to Rye by Grapple, the Stewards, after a long delay, disqualified Juggler and gave the race to Grapple. The decision was reached by a board of substitute Stewards, none of the three Stewards appointed by The Jockey Club for the Belmont Park meeting being in the stand.

ISOTTA WINS TARGA FLORIA.

Trucco Drives Car to Victory Over Fourteen Competitors in Big Race.

MILAN, May 18.—Trucco, in his 40 horse power Isotta Fraschini car, won the Targa Floria to-day over the Sicily course over fourteen competitors, defeating some of the best known racing drivers in Europe and a representative entry of European makes. Lancia was second in his Fiat racer, but finished thirteen minutes behind the winner. The car was the same which won the stock car race over the Padova Bolanenta circuit a month ago. Trucco on that occasion defeating Nazzaro and other great drivers. Minoia, in another Isotta, was then second. The car showed in the big race a speed of over seventy-five miles an hour.

The second victory of Trucco in Italy within a month is a great triumph for the Isotta car, and on top of the double victory achieved by Lewis Strang in this country at Savannah and at Briarcliff is a remarkable record. C. M. Hamilton, manager of the Isotta Import Company in this city, was much elated with the result.

Yankees and Tigers to See Fights.

Willie Mango, the clever and hard-hitting little featherweight, who has just returned from Baltimore after stopping "Kid" Attell in five rounds, has been secured by Manager Harvey to meet Lew Ryal of Philadelphia in one of the six-round bouts to be contested at the National Athletic Club arena, 147 East Twenty-fourth Street, to-night. The clinching of this match makes a card of three star bouts, headed by Harry Lewis of Philadelphia, who has a hard six-round battle ahead of him with Hitte of Albany. Eddie Toy of San Francisco meets Joe Adams of Boston in another six-round bout, while Jack McDermott and Will McDonald will furnish a four-round curtain raiser. Manager Griffiths of the Yankees and Manager Jennings of the Detroit Baseball Clubs will have their teams at the ring side.

NOTES OF THE TURF.

The most remarkable trial of the Spring training season was credited to James R. Keene's unbeaten colt Colin at the Sheepshead Bay race course yesterday. Colin was worked a mile, in his preparation for the Withers Stakes, his first engagement of the year, to be run at the Belmont Park track on Saturday, and with a fair-sized exercise boy up, covered the mile in 1:39 3-5, according to the majority of the watches held on him, all the timers making the trial better than 1:40. The fractional time was 0:23 4-5, 0:48 3-5, 1:14 1-5, and 1:39 3-5. Celt, stable mate to Colin, and rated by horsemen as the next best of his age, also worked fast enough to cause much comment, Celt finishing out the mile in 1:40 4-5. Celt is not engaged in the Withers.

F. A. Forsythe, the Kentucky turfman, has secured the services of the successful lightweight negro jockey, J. Lee, for the remainder of the racing year, and Lee yesterday was reported as on his way to New York to join the Forsythe stable.

Barney Schreiber has shipped back to his Missouri farm, Woodlands, the mare Donna, to be rested there until the Fall, when she will be trained again.

A review and inspection and test of the marine branch of the New York City Fire Department will take place at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon in the bay, off the Battery, which will be witnessed by Mayor McClellan, Fire Commissioner Hayes, Chief Croker, and other city officials.

LATEST CUSTOMS RULINGS.

Pewter "Turnings" Are Held to be Remanufactures, Free of Duty.

In sustaining a claim filed by Knauth, Nachod & Kuhne of New York the Board of United States General Appraisers has handed down a decision holding that Paragraph 637 of the free list of the Dingley tariff relating to "pewter and britannia metal, old and fit only to be remanufactured," includes clippings or turnings of pewter produced in the manufacture of machine bearings.

The Appraiser returned the merchandise as being suitable for further manufacture, and therefore, free of duty. The Collector failed to accept this advisory classification and duty was assessed on the importation at the rate of 20 per cent. ad valorem under the provision in the tariff for "metals unwrought."

THE WEATHER

WASHINGTON, May 18.—Kite flights at Mount Weather, Va., during the last few days have reached only small elevation, indicating, as on a previous occasion this month, a considerable stratum of calm or light airs about 2,000 feet above the mountain, through which the kites cannot pass. The surface winds in both cases were from the east.

Temperatures are about normal in all districts.

Winds along the New England Coast will be fresh to brisk southeast; Middle Atlantic Coast, fresh, possibly brisk, southeast; South Atlantic Coast, fresh southwest.

Steamships departing Tuesday for European ports will have fresh south winds with fair weather to the Grand Banks.

FORECAST FOR TO-DAY AND WEDNESDAY.

Eastern New York—Rain Tuesday, and probably in north portion Wednesday; fresh southeast winds.

New Jersey, Eastern Pennsylvania, and Delaware—Rain Tuesday; Wednesday, partly cloudy, increasing southeast to south winds.

The temperature record for the twenty-four hours ended at midnight, taken from the thermometer at the local office of the United States Weather Bureau, is as follows:

	1907.	1908.		1907.	1908.
3 A. M.	49	63	6 P. M.	75	73
6 A. M.	49	62	9 P. M.	75	69
9 A. M.	62	65	11 P. M.	71	65
12 M.	71	76	12 P. M.	68	60

This thermometer is 108 feet above the street level. The average temperature yesterday was 68; for the corresponding date last year it was 62; average on the corresponding date for the last thirty-five years, 60.

The temperature at 8 A. M. was 64; at 8 P. M. it was 65; maximum temperature, 76 degrees at 12 noon; minimum, 60 degrees at 6:30 A. M.; humidity, 68 per cent. at 8 A. M. and 61 per cent. at 8 P. M.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Stocks Strong and Active—Call Money Rates, 1@1¾ Per Cent.

MORE GOLD FOR EUROPE

About $2,250,000 Engaged—Exchange Rates Firm, but Day to Day Money Touches Low Level.

A decline in call money to 1 per cent., a figure touched by it on four occasions within as many years, additional engagements of gold for export to Europe; a trifling advance in demand sterling, in spite of the day's gold takings; a decision by the United States Supreme Court declaring unconstitutional an act of the Texas Legislature levying a tax of 1 per cent. on the gross receipts of railroads within that State, and another advance in the price of copper metal, made up the principal items of yesterday's budget of news, so far as financial markets were concerned. All would hardly seem enough to provide the basis for another excited rise in prices on transactions amounting to over 1,000,000 shares on the Stock Exchange, and, as a matter of fact, like all its predecessors, yesterday's rise had very little to do with immediate developments. It became apparent shortly after the opening of the market that the various groups which have been engineering with more or less harmony the forward movement had determined on another demonstration. For the purpose the best of the railroad stocks were selected as leaders and to advances running to 4 points in Union Pacific and 2 points or more in such stocks as Pennsylvania, Southern Pacific, and Reading, the list as a whole made quick responses. There were notable flurries in a number of usually inactive stocks and so-called specialties, as in Missouri Pacific, with its gain of over 7 points; Denver & Rio Grande preferred, 5½ points; Big Four preferred, 12½ points, and New York, New Haven & Hartford, 3¾ points. Various explanations were offered for the behavior of Missouri Pacific, in which the tradng ran to nearly 38,000 shares, but the most obvious reason for its rise, that of the driving in of a large short interest, was naturally discarded for the more attractive theory of competitive buying for control. Several of the railroads whose lines penetrate the State of Texas were helped marketwise by the decision of the United States Supreme Court relative to the 1 per cent. tax on gross earnings, but the benefits are of even wider application, for the court's pronouncement is additional evidence of the ultimate safeguards which surround properties attacked by legislators or individuals for political or other purposes. The further rise in the price of copper metal was accompanied by reports of a somewhat better demand on the part of home consumers and of successful efforts by producers to reduce costs.

As a result of recent engagements of gold there will go forward to-day $7,100,000, but the indifference of the money market to these withdrawals is very plainly to be discerned in the 1 per cent. rate on call loans. The surplus of the banks, which is receiving constant additions through excess of Government expenditures and receipts from the interior, is more than sufficient to meet these European demands at a time of slack trade without disturbances in any quarter. Exchange closed above Saturday's levels, following the day's engagements, and the outlook is for more exports. Local institutions are already recouping themselves for recent losses to the Government through withdrawals of United States deposits; they have received on balance from the Sub-Treasury since Friday last nearly $1,000,000.

PHILADELPHIA PRICES.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, May 18.—Continued weakness in Rapid Transit was a disturbing factor in the local market to-day, and while it did not affect the general list materially, it checked speculation in the home issues. It was rumored that the selling of Rapid Transit was for the account of Pittsburg operators. Union Traction and United Gas were fractionally lower. Cambria Steel was steady and the Lehighs were strong, rising from 1⅝ to 3 points on fairly active trading. Total sales, 4,608 shares.

OUTSIDE SECURITIES

Firm Tone to Trading, with Small Gains General in Brisk Market.

SHORT COVERING HELPS

Sharp Rises in Boston Consolidated and Greene-Cananea Attributed to a Squeeze of Shorts.

Curb stocks were strong yesterday, with some active bidding up of one or two of the coppers at the expense of the short interest. Boston Consolidated, in which there is said to be a large short interest in Boston, was put rapidly up on comparatively light trading. It opened at 13, ¾ above Saturday's close, and advanced to 14⅜ for an odd lot. The close, after transactions of 2,000, was at 14, a net gain of 1¼ points. Another stock in which large gains were made was Greene-Cananea, which sold as high as 10⅛, after opening at 9⅝. The close, after transactions of 5,600, was at 10. The Nevada gold stocks were also active and strong. Goldfield Consolidated sold up from 5¾ to 6, but closed, after transactions of 18,400, even with the opening.

⁂

The principal transactions reported yesterday in the outside market, with opening, high, low, and last prices, were as follows:

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

Public Interested a Little Bit.

New high records for many stocks were established yesterday, and the wave of bullish enthusiasm made further progress. It is a question which neither the brokers nor bankers seem able or willing to answer whether this bullishness has the quality of popularity, or, in other words, if the general trading public contribute to it. Individual brokers express their opinions from what they see in their own offices, and a good average of the answers to numerous queries submitted to these brokers would indicate not much public buying. They say that some of the buying could be classed in that way were it not that it lacked the distinguishing quality which is always evident in a big upward movement in the market in which the public participates, more or less reckless speculation. There is nothing reckless in the speculation or trading that is going on among the outside clients of brokerage houses. Those who do trade see to it that they have ample margin, and in many instances the purchases of stocks are so well margined that it is equivalent to buying outright. This is not so in every case, of course, nor, possibly, in a majority of cases, but it indicates the amount of conservatism still existing. Incidentally, it does not hurt the technical position of the market.

Union Pacific Gossip.

Union Pacific continues to be the stock watched most closely by the largest number of traders, brokers, and persons generally interested. Any one who would have predicted 150 for the stock before June 1, two months ago would have been laughed at for his pains, but yesterday, even more extravagant figures were predicted, and few had the temerity to contradict. The talk that the stock was being put up because of new financing has subsided, and, in fact, little has been heard of it since Mr. Harriman's query concerning the necessities of Union Pacific which $25,000,000 would satisfy. There is a recurrence in the talk of the segregation of the company's assets, particularly the securities held as investment. One broker who has consistently opposed the advance in the stock said yesterday: "The segregation of the assets of the company would explain present prices. Some such explanation may be expected."

Congress and the Currency.

"Congress will be out of the way this week," said a banker yesterday, "and then one will have a chance to decide what influence the actual doings of the legislative body had on the general situation. I am not paying so much attention to the Currency bill. I do not know what the conference between the House and Senate will accomplish, but the result is more than likely to be mighty unsatisfactory. It has been my good fortune to be in personal touch with some of the leaders in Congress, and it is my firm belief that even at the end of the session they are no more convinced of just what ought to be done than they were before they undertook to solve the problem. There are too many theorists and there is too much of a disposition to insist on individual schemes, but one thing might be said, and that is that if any bill is enacted this week, it will be just as much an emergency measure as if Congress had been convened in special session during the panic and a bill turned out in ten days. We have gotten over being afraid of Congress, however, and when it convenes again we shall know who the new President will be, but at the same time the new Congressmen will be back in harness for two years, and may have a little more independence. They go home now to fight for election, and naturally they are very careful about what they do in these closing hours."

Circulating Danger Signals.

For a short time yesterday there was an epidemic of tips in certain quarters purporting to be inspired, and suggesting that the market was at a dangerous point. These were so insistent that one house which has been bullish and the customers of which are long of stocks, took the trouble to investigate to try and find out the origin or the responsibility, with the idea of taking advantage of the high prices if there was anything in the suggestion of an impending recession. The subsequent action of the market thoroughly allayed any uneasiness that the indiscriminate gossip might have inspired. After the close of the market one member found what he thought to be the source of the gratuitous advice. One trader had an account in four or five offices, not very large in any one, but sufficiently active to be regarded as a good trader. A mysterious suggestion in each office, and the listeners did the rest.

Bond Prices Quietly Advance.

One of the customers of a brokerage house gave an order to purchase a substantial block of a certain gas bond which a few years ago was very popular. In the meantime it suffered with every other bond of its class, until a year or so ago it was selling fully 25 points below the high price at which it had sold. In the interval there was not much activity, so that the quotations did not reflect anything except an occasional trade. Just now some of the quotations merely represent the last reported sale, which may have been months ago. When the broker was asked to find the bonds a price was given him up to which he could buy them, but when he went into the market to find the bonds he found that the price he had given to him was not within fifteen points of the best bids, and, furthermore, there was not a bond to be had for less than five points above the bid price.

$7,100,000 MORE GOLD GOES.

Despite Heavy Engagements for Europe Exchange Rates Advance.

Several additional gold engagements for export to Europe by to-day's steamer were arranged yesterday, increasing the amount which will be shipped to-day to $7,100,000. Of this $1,000,000 is being sent by Goldman, Sachs & Co. in the shape of coin taken from the Sub-Treasury yesterday, and the balance was taken in bars from the Assay Office.

The bar gold engagements yesterday were $750,000 by Goldman, Sachs & Co. and $250,000 by Heidelbach, Ickelheimer & Co., who had previously engaged $1,500,000. The balance of the $7,100,000 had been engaged on Friday and Saturday of last week. Despite the large shipments of gold arranged yesterday foreign exchange rates remained strong, the rate for demand sterling advancing about 10 points.

PRODUCE EXCHANGE STOCKS.

The principal transactions reported yesterday in the stock department of the Produce Exchange, with opening, high, low, and last prices, were as follows:

Nevada Roads to Unite.

Plans have been completed, it was stated yesterday, for the merger of the Tonopah & Tidewater Railroad of the Bullfrog & Goldfield Railroad, which is controlled by interests identified with the Tonopah & Tidewater. The two roads together operate about 190 miles of road which serve mining districts in Nevada and connect with the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fé.

FIRST SECURITIES CO. TO ORGANIZE TO-DAY

Concern to Take Over Security Operations of First National Has $10,000,000 Capital.

HOLDINGS TOTAL $60,000,000

The Directors Will Include J. P. Morgan and J. J. Hill, and Be Increased from Three to Twelve.

The plans of the First National Bank for the organization of a $10,000,000 security company, which will have power to carry on banking operations other than those specifically provided for in National bank charters, will be put into practical effect following a meeting to be held today, at which it is expected the Directors of the new company will be chosen.

The First Security Company, which is the name chosen for the new corporation, yesterday filed with the Secretary of State of New York a certificate of increase in its capital from $10,000 to $10,000,000, and its charter provisions were also changed to raise the number of Directors from three to twelve.

At to-day's meeting it is expected that the following men will be made Directors of the First Security Company: F. A. Baker, George F. Baker, James A. Blair, Henry P. Davison, H. C. Fahnestock, James J. Hill, F. L. Hine, A. Curtis James, John J. Mitchell, William H. Moore, J. P. Morgan, and George F. Baker, Jr. The officials to whom the actual management of the operations of the new company will be intrusted, are George F. Baker, H. C. Fahnestock, F. L. Hine, Henry P. Davison, George F. Baker, Jr., and C. D. Backus, all of whom are officers of the First National Bank.

The management of the First Security Company will thus be in the same hands as the First National Bank, and practically the only change which the completion of the organization of the new company will make in the previous practice of the bank is that certain of the operations heretofore conducted directly by the bank will in the future be carried on through the intermediary of the First Security Company, a New York State corporation, while the bank itself, of course, is conducted under the provisions of the National Bank act.

The First National's plan is similar in many respects to similar arrangements made by several other well-known National banks, among them the First National Bank of Chicago. The organization of this new $10,000,000 corporation here is regarded as the outcome of the very large increase in recent years in the security holdings of the bank. Under the return made to the Controller of the Currency as of Feb. 14 last, the First National reported stocks, bonds, and mortgages to a total of $60,696,651. The great volume of the bank's assets reported under this head has been one of the distinguishing features of the First National's statements for a long time. The second bank in this city in respect to these holdings is the National City, which at the last call reported $33,731,000 of stocks, bonds, and mortgages, against the First National's $60,000,000.

THE FOREIGN MARKET.

Stocks Firm in London and Paris—Weak Close on Berlin Boerse.

LONDON, May 18.—Money was in fair inquiry and good demand on the market to-day and discounts were steady. The Continent bought the bulk of the £600,000 in gold available.

Trading on the Stock Exchange continued cheerful and fairly active. Cheap money benefited consols and gilt-edgers generally, while home rails hardened on better weather reports. Foreigners were strongly supported from the Continent, and this advanced quotations.

American securities were supported professionally in the forenoon over parity, but the local buying was restricted. Canadian Pacific and Grand Trunk benefited from the crop estimates. Later the New York opening caused further improvement, especially in Union Pacific. Interest centred in this security. The market finished firm.

Copper shares were strong and active early in the day, but they eased on unfavorable statistics.

Bar silver uncertain, 24⅝d per ounce.

Money, 1¼ per cent.

PARIS, May 18.—Prices on the Bourse to-day were firm on the ease in the money rate.

BERLIN, May 18.—Prices on the Boerse to-day opened firm, but the Government securities became weak later in the day on advices from London.

Illinois Central Plans Approved.

CHICAGO, May 18.—Stockholders of the Illinois Central Railroad to-day approved the plans of the Directors to purchase the Kensington & Eastern and the Memphis & State Line Railroad. They also approved, by a vote of 633,783 to 38 shares, the proposal to increase the capital stock of the Illinois Central 285,120 shares, making the total capital stock $123,552,000. The increase is to pay for construction, improvement, and maintenance of lines now owned by the company. Henry W. Leman, attorney for Stuyvesant Fish in the law proceedings against E. H. Harriman, voted against the increase, so as to preserve his rights in the suit which he has brought to test the legality of the holding by the Union Pacific of stock in the Illinois Central.

H. H. ROGERS'S PLANS TO REACH LAKE PORTS

He Is Now Said to be Arranging Traffic Connections with His Virginia Road.

ADVANTAGE OVER RIVALS

Through the raising of the funds needed to complete H. H. Rogers's Tidewater Railroad by the sale of an issue of $17,000,000 five-year notes attention has been again directed to the plans for making that road a factor in the coal markets of the Middle West as well as at coast points.

While Mr. Rogers and his associates are not known to have worked out definitely the connections for his Tidewater Road, it was stated yesterday by bankers who are connected with the financing of Mr. Rogers's line that he has given much attention to the question of connections with roads running to Chicago and other points on the great lakes.

It was learned yesterday that the connections regarded as most feasible for the carrying out of Mr. Rogers's purpose to reach the great lake ports with his coal, as well as the seaboard, are with the Kanawha & Michigan and the Toledo & Ohio Central to Toledo. To the west the Toledo & Ohio Central extends to St. Mary's, Ohio, which is only about fifty-five miles from Marion, Ind., where connection can be made with the Chicago, Cincinnati & Louisville. The construction of a line to connect these two points has been proposed. It would give the Tidewater Railroad and its connections a line about 970 miles long from Chicago to the seaboard, which would be shorter than any other line except the Pennsylvania, and the grades on the Pennsylvania are very much heavier than on the Tidewater.

A connection between the Tidewater and the Toledo & Ohio Central and the Kanawha & Michigan would, however, have its chief advantage in giving the Tidewater by far the shortest line from the West Virginia coalfields to the Great Lake ports. It is estimated that the distance from the West Virginia coalfields over the Tidewater and Kanawha & Michigan and Toledo & Ohio Central lines would be about 380 miles, compared with 480 miles over the Norfolk & Western and Hocking Valley, and 485 miles over the Chesapeake & Ohio and the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton. This would make the Tidewater and its connections the short line, and would largely increase its importance as a factor in the coal markets at Eastern points, and also at the manufacturing points tributary to the Great Lake region.

All that is needed to connect the Tidewater with the Kanawha & Michigan is the construction of a bridge across the Kanawha River at Carbondale, West Va. It was reported yesterday that the initial steps have already been taken looking to the construction of this bridge.

Regarding the terms of the new $17,000,000 note issue, by which Mr. Rogers is financing the completion of his road, the notes will be convertible at par into the first mortgage bonds of the Virginia Railway on any interest day during the life of the note. The issue, which has been taken by Redmond & Co. and the Equitable Trust Company, will be offered at 98¼. It is understood that the price at which the notes were placed with the underwriting syndicate is 95.

Virginian Road Resumes Pier Building.

NORFOLK, Va., May 18.—Official announcement was made to-day that the Virginian Railway, owned by H. H. Rogers, will resume its terminal and pier building operations at Sewall's Point at once, with a view to hauling coal into Norfolk for export by Jan. 1, 1909. The pier contractors have already resumed their operations.

A FAMILY AFFAIR, MORSE SAYS

Ex-Banker Talks Guardedly About His New Securities Company.

C. W. Morse refused yesterday to tell exactly what purpose the $10,000,000 Morse Securities Company, incorporated at Bath, Me., on Saturday, was to serve in the readjustment of his affairs. He denied, however, that the corporation would figure in any way in the liquidation of the National Bank of North America, whose assets a syndicate composed of Mr. Morse's associates has planned to take over.

Mr. Morse was seen yesterday at his new headquarters in 1 Nassau Street, formerly the offices of Whitney & Kitchen, a Stock Exchange house, which failed last year as the result of some of its Tammany Hall customers' operations in Morse stocks. He has regained all of his old buoyancy and good health. He said he thought it was none of the public's business what his plans were.

"I think it would be foolish to talk about my affairs," said Mr. Morse. "When I was going down the newspapers did all they could to make me look like a back number. Now that I am helping myself out of my diffculties the papers want to make a sensation out of my success. It would be braggadocio for me to tell of the progress I have made in straightening out the tangle. There ought not to be anything wonderful about a man paying his debts."

Mr. Morse, speaking of his loans yesterday, said that even at the low prices there never was a time when the collateral he had pledged did not show at least $500,000 market valuation in excess of all his obligations.

Asked whether the Morse Securities Company of Maine had been organized to take care of his friends, who had been advancing him cash, Mr. Morse said: "Hardly that; I would call it more nearly a family affair." He would not explain what he meant by a family affair, but it is well known that Mr. Morse's relatives in Maine have advanced much of the cash which has been a large factor in the straightening out of his affairs.

EXAMINE TONOPAH EXTENSION

Stockholders Must Wait Till August Before Getting a Report.

At the meeting of the stockholders of Charles M. Schwab's Tonopah Mining Extension Company yesterday, Mr. Schwab met the demands of stockholders for exact information as to the condition of the property by introducing a resolution authorizing the board to employ Henry Crumm to examine the mine and estimate its possibilities. The meeting was adjourned until Aug. 18, when Mr. Crumm's sealed report will be made known to stockholders.

Engineer Crumm is the man who reported on Charles M. Schwab's other Nevada mine, the Montgomery-Shoshone, and confirmed the growing suspicion among the shareholders that the property was practically worthless.

At yesterday's meeting General Manager John G. Kerchen, read a long report on the physical condition of the Tonopah Extension Company property in which he said there were about 150,000 tons of ore in sight, worth $12 a ton, with silver at its present price. It is now costing the company about $6.50 to take this ore out of the mine, and about as much again to smelt it, leaving pjractically no profit.

Charles M. Schwab said there was no reason to believe that the outlook was as discouraging as that in the Montgomery-Shoshone.

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

WHEAT.—The market had an irregular movement yesterday within a range of about a cent per bushel, and at the close was fairly steady. At the outset there was selling, based on a decline at Liverpool and Northwest receipts of 815 cars, compared with 650 cars last year. This was followed by sharp rallies, and later with frequent sharp movements either way, being strongest on the visible supply decrease of 1,559,000 bushels, against an increase last year of 857,000 bushels and some unfavorable crop news from the Southwest. The Hessian fly situation brought complaint from Kansas and Oklahoma. Northwest reports were very favorable. Exporters took not exceeding 12 loads at all ports. No. 2 red wheat in New York was quoted $1.04 nominal, elevator, and $1.07 nominal, free on board afloat; No. 1 Northern, Duluth, $1.13⅜, and No. 2 hard Winter, $1.11⅛ free on board afloat.

CORN.—There was considerable early activity yesterday, following reports of light country offerings and bad weather in the Ohio Valley, and prices were well sustained until after midday, when the estimates for larger car-lot receipts for Chicago on Tuesday led to active selling. The visible supply decreased 193,000 bushels. No. 2 corn in New York was quoted 76c elevator and 72½c free on board afloat.

Receipts at the two ports as reported by the day's cables were 12,000 bags, against 47,000 last year and 19,000 two years ago. For the week, receipts at the two ports were 85,000 bags, against 277,000 last year and 105,000 two years ago. Stamp Perforation Now Permitted.

The Merchants' Association, in a circular addressed to its members, called attention yesterday to an order recently issued by the Postmaster General permitting the perforation of postage stamps for the purposes of identification. The order, however, strictly forbids the use of perforations of stamps for advertising purposes. The order was entered by the Postmaster General after long efforts of the Merchants' Association to obtain such a ruling. The purpose of thus marking stamps for identification is to prevent the theft of stamps.

MANUFACTURERS IN A TARIFF WRANGLE

OPINIONS ARE DIVERGENT

The Inter-State Commerce Committee Blames State and Not National Legislation for Industrial Troubles.

At the opening session of the annual convention of the National Association of Manufacturers at the Waldorf-Astoria yesterday it became evident that the members of that organization are anything but a unit on the subject of tariff. The question figured in almost every address that was made, and opinions ran the gamut from a programme of ship subsidies, abolition of reciprocity arrangements, and a system of comprehensive drawbacks to manufacturers on all articles not produced in the United States, to one that included flat opposition to ship subsidies, the extension of reciprocity treaties, and the removal of all duties from articles whose manufacture here is monopolized by the trusts.

The proceedings were enlivened by a personal encounter, in words, between George J. Seabury, a manufacturing druggist who believes in subsidies, and C. B. Scott, a Duluth lumber man, who doesn't. Mr. Seabury had delivered a long address on the subsidy question in which he advocated a "subsidized over-sea mail and merchant marine service, owned, built, and sailed by Americans to every world seaport." He also suggested the establishment of a permanent tariff commission composed of "scientific industrial commercial members."

Legal members, customs members, and broad economic experts laid out the drawback scheme alluded to and declared for the abolition of the German free-trade agreement.

Mr. Seabury said he had given much attention to the question. The paper he read, he said, had been written for three months; it was no piece of overnight literature. Moreover, he told of other activities in the same line as follows:

"In January, 1905, I wrote for the information of Congress what was pronounced the most original, scientific, and exhaustive treatise on the uses, nature, and value of over-sea shipbuilding to industrial maritime peoples that was ever written by an economist in any country. It was a prodigious and laborious task, and I essayed it as a patriotic duty."

"Foreign Conspirators."

Mr. Seabury devoted a considerable part of his time to explaining why Congress had been so remiss in the matter of ship subsidy legislation. He said that "foreign conspirators" had been busy in the lobby at Washington with the effective aid of Northwestern allies in this country and had contributed to the defeat of many salutary measures, but that the time would come when such activities would be considered not only unpatriotic but treasonable. This was what started Mr. Scott into action as soon as Mr. Seabury resumed his seat. He wanted to protest against having the term treasonable go into the record and generally to take exception to the statements about the Northwestern allies.

"If the learned disquisitions which the gentleman has fired upon Congress in first and second editions have been ignored by the ignorant legislators," said Mr. Scott, "let us undertake to elect other legislators."

Mr. Seabury was on his feet offering to take time off at some stage of the convention and enlighten Mr. Scott, but Mr. Scott declined to be enlightened.

"Now we out in our country," he continued, "produced the wheat and the corn and the other crops that were sent abroad to form the basis of the gold imports with which the panic was stayed. Not one dollar of protection have we ever had to help us. This gentleman comes from a district (New Jersey) where every manufacturer has his own little schedule in the protective tariff which enables him to keep prices sky high and send his stuff out to us and make us pay it. I have been willing to do that through the freshman and sophomore year, but I don't like the idea of doing it for all time and then be called treasonable because we're not in favor of even more protection."

He Drew Applause.

There was loud applause when Mr. Scott finished and the incident was closed.

The report of the association's Committee on Inter-State Commerce, which was presented by A. B. Farquhar of York, Penn., declared that while the committee did not profess to have complete explanation of the industrial crisis of 1907 it believed that one important factor had been the legislative programmes in many States.

"Your committee," said the report, "is inclined to hold State action far more responsible than National action. To our mind the fashion now prevailing in some quarters of charging our financial disasters to efforts of the executive branch of the Government to make of the Sherman and Elkins acts something better than a dead letter and to hold corporations to their obligations in the public service is too absurd for serious discussion."

The report urged the necessity of obtaining uniformity of freight classifications and bills of lading and came out strongly for the improvement of inland water transportation, naming specifically the Great Lakes-Gulf project, the proposed line of canals from Cape Cod via Long Island Sound to Jersey and thence to Chesapeake Bay and the improvement of the Erie Canal. In this latter connection the committee suggested that the National Government might bear the expense of the construction of a ship canal in excess of the $101,000,000 which the State authorized for such expenditure.

Needs of "Honest Commerce."

The report concluded:

> With regard to the Commerce Commission and its relations to business, we have no change to recommend. The commission has power enough at present, and is wise enough to seek no more. With oceanic transportation it has no business, and shall have none; and it has just confessed that limitation of its powers very discreetly.
>
> It should go no further than it has gone in the direction of adjusting all railway rates to the lowest in effect, for the result of such interpretation of the "reasonable rate" must be to increase the minimum, and thus probably to deprive shippers of a good deal of territory and the railroads of a good deal of traffic.
>
> What our business particularly needs, just now, is the removal of all barriers to honest commerce, a reconstruction of the phraseology of the "Sherman anti-trust law" to accord with the evident intent of its author, in order that combinations not at variance with the interests of the people should be permitted.
>
> The Sherman law has done nothing to curtail the power of the great corporations, which have thriven and swollen under it as never before; its effects have been to prevent the railways from making friendly arrangements for a division of traffic, and, by vainly pointing to a false cure, to turn away the attention of the people from the true cure for the trusts' exactions and tyrannies.
>
> Need we explain that this is by removal of import duties from all articles whose production they monopolize? It is self-evident that a law taxing the American people for the benefit of monopolists, who can export their goods at a profit for lower prices than they exact of us at home, should be repealed, and that protection should no longer be extended to those who have proved they do not need it.
>
> Our attacks ought to be directed against the abuses, not against the existence, of producers' combinations, which are, except when permitted to coin an unearned gain from the custom laws, more often a benefit than a menace to the community.

A Word to Labor Unions.

The report of the Committee on Industrial Education had to do in large measure with the hostility of labor leaders to this project. The New York unions were among those complained of, and the committee remarked:

"Scripture informs us that the lowly Nazarene was a carpenter; we have sometimes wondered whether he would have been a carpenter or a common day laborer had there been labor unions in his day."

Among other statements of labor leaders quoted there is this one by Henry Abrams, Secretary of the Central Labor Union of Boston:

"We trades unionists oppose trade schools because, as a rule, the advocates are men who employ cheap or non-union labor, and whose only object is to prevent the worker from obtaining a fair wage or a shorter workday."

Another quotation was this from John Golden, General President of the United Textile Workers of America:

"Rest assured, labor unions will at all times oppose trade schools, which, instead of being run for the purpose of educating the youth of the country along industrial lines, have been nothing more nor less than 'scab' hatcheries, turning out misguided young men to take the places of union men who are making an effort to bring about better wages or better conditions."

The committee reasserts its own belief in the value of the trade school. Other features of the session included an address by Allen Ripley Foot on "American Protection for American Industries," one by Alfred H. Post on "Export Shipping Problems," and one by William H. Douglas on "Exporting."

The sessions will be continued to-day and to-morrow.

NO WATERWAYS POLICY.

Congressmen at Waterways Congress Dinner Say Nation Has Been Niggardly

The Directors of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress gave a dinner last night at the Hotel Astor to New York newspaper and magazine men in pursuance of the policy of that organization to awaken public sentiment to the need for a National policy with regard to the improvement of rivers and harbors.

Congressman Joseph E. Ransdell of Lake Providence, La., President of the Waterways Congress, said that Congress, answering the pressure of the Nation, voted $250,000,000 without hesitation to build the Panama Canal, although it will benefit the rest of the world more than it will benefit this country, and yet had been niggardly about outlays for our waterways. He wanted Congress to give the waterways bills the consideration which the commerce of this country demanded. He knew that Congress would move only when pushed by the people. The whole waterways' question, he thought, was now handled in a most unbusinesslike manner.

Congressman E. C. Ellis of Kansas City, President of the Missouri River Improvement Commission, told how it was that Congress treated the waterways question so shabbily. In the past, he said, there had been a great deal of mismanagement of what moneys had been appropriated, and appropriations had been made in most cases in answer to selfish pressure from local communities. There had been no great National plan or policy. As soon as such a National policy had been formulated and backed by the people, Congress would answer the demands of the people.

Congressman Davidson of Oshkosh, Wis., said that this country had spent only a half billion dollars on its waterways, while Germany and France had each spent four times that much, and little Holland had spent three times that amount.

BATTLESHIP FLEET SAILS.

Leaves San Francisco for Puget Sound —At Seattle May 23.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 18.—The Atlantic fleet sailed to-day for Puget Sound. On its way up the coast it will run close to the shore at certain points in order to give the people of Northern California and Oregon an opportunity to view the vessels under way at sea.

The ships will arrive in Puget Sound Thursday. The Minnesota, Missouri, and Ohio will go to Port Angeles, the Illinois and Kearsarge to Port Townsend, the Connecticut, Louisiana, Kansas, Vermont, Georgia, Virginia, and New Jersey to Bellingham, and the Wisconsin, Nebraska, and Kentucky to the Bremerton Navy Yard. Reassembling at Port Townsend on May 23, the fleet will proceed to Seattle that afternoon for a three days' visit.

Then the ships of one squadron will sail for San Francisco for docking, while the others return to Bremerton to be docked in preparation for the resumption of the world cruise, which will start from San Francisco July 7.

NOT GUILTY OF CONSPIRACY.

Supreme Court Upholds Court of Appeals in Lewisohn Stock Case.

WASHINGTON, May 18.—The case of the Old Dominion Copper Mining and Smelting Company, operating in Arizona, vs. Frederick Lewisohn, executor of the estate of the late Leonard Lewisohn of New York, in which the company sought to procure the return of 30,000 shares of its stock, the possession of which it was asserted had been obtained by Leonard Lewisohn and others by conspiracy when the company was organized, was decided by the Supreme Court of the United States to-day in favor of Lewisohn.

The United States Circut Court for the Southern District of New York, by which the case was tried, held that there was no evidence of fraud, and rendered a decision against the company, which was affirmed by the Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit. The Supreme Court took the same view.

MOVES 80-CENT GAS CASE.

Judge Parker's First Case After Being Admitted to Supreme Court Bar.

WASHINGTON, May 18.—Judge Alton B. Parker was to-day admitted to practice before the Supreme Court of the United States. The motion for his admission was made by ex-Solicitor General Whitney, who contented himself with a simple presentation of his "distinguished friend." Chief Justice Fuller smiled as he recognized the applicant, and merely directed him to the desk of the Clerk to take the oath.

Judge Parker immediately entered his appearance in the New York eighty-cent gas cases. He moved the advancement of the cases to be heard at the beginning of the next term of the court, and the motion was granted, the hearing being fixed for the first Tuesday after the reconvening of the court and after other cases which have been set down for that date.

CLASSES ROOSEVELT WITH CONSPIRATORS

'TRUCKLING TO LABOR VOTE'

Attacks Gompers and Civic Federation —Says We Are Threatened by Guerrilla Unionism and Socialism.

The opening session of the National Association of Manufacturers, which is holding its annual three-day convention at the Waldorf-Astoria, was marked yesterday by the issuance, through the Publicity Bureau of the association, of an interview with John Kirby, Jr., President of the Dayton Manufacturing Company of Dayton, Ohio, a large concern making steel railroad supplies of various kinds. The interview was given out with headlines and all attached, being entitled:

> Roosevelt and Gompers Conspiring Toward a Scarlet Empire—Scathing Attack of National Association of Manufacturers' Director—Calls Civic Federation a Stool Pigeon and Harm to Good Citizenship—Compares American Federation of Labor to Forty Thieves.

The interview was introduced with these words:

> John Kirby, Jr., President of the Dayton Manufacturing Company of Dayton, Ohio, and member of the Board of Directors of the National Association of Manufacturers, now convening at the Waldorf, gave out a scatching interview last night in which he arraigned President Roosevelt for truckling to the labor vote. He also denounced the Civic Federation, of which August Belmont was formerly the President, and which is now presided over by Seth Low. The interview is significant in view of the manufacturers' determination to take an active part in the coming campaign, a project which includes not only the National Association, but also 130 other employers' organizations.

The interview, after reviewing the efforts made by D. M. Parry and G. W. Post along the lines approved by Mr. Kirby, says:

> The Civic Federation's policy of conciliating the crimes of organized labor and compromising principles which the Almighty never intended should be compromised is condemned by all unbiased, right-minded, and conscientious men in every walk of life.

Subsequently Mr. Kirby says, relative to the conferences between President Roosevelt, President Sampel Gompers of the Federation of Labor, and the representatives of the Civic Federation in regard to pending labor legislation:

A Roosevelt-Gompers Combination.

> With a Presidential Election in sight and the politicians scheming to catch votes, with patriotism and welfare of country forgotten, and the Civic Federation playing the part of stool pigeon, we are face to face with the lamentable spectacle of the President grasping Gompers with one hand and with the other wielding a club over Congress, while both he and Gompers, in one breath, demand the passage of laws which shall give to organized labor immunity from laws by which it can now be restrained from acts of violence, and by which it is now prohibited from destroying business and preventing honest, industrious American citizens from peaceably enjoying their God-given and Constitutional right to labor for a livelihood.
>
> In the faint but forlorn hope of gaining a little strength politically, the 93 per cent. of unorganized labor is to be ignored or forced to become Gomperized, and our old-time rights and privileges, which have made this country a haven of opporunity, and established it above all other nations, is to be doomed to oblivion, if we will so permit, in order to gratify the ambition of a Czar, who, in the game of politics, plays both ends against the middle, and believes the patriotic citizens of this country are so infatuated with him and his policies that they will tolerate anything and everything which he proposes or demands.
>
> Could anything be more apparent than the need of permanent, concrete organization to meet such exigencies and preserve to this Nation the principles upon which it was founded, and upon which it has risen to be the grandest and the mightiest, and the best abiding place on earth? But we cannot expect men to stand in the foreground and take the brunt of the battle unless they are sustained from the rear. We cannot expect men in public life to be Littlefields, and battle for our cause against all sorts of odds, if we suffer them to go down in defeat for doing so. The issue should be clearly defined and all the influence possible for us to bring to bear should at all times be exerted to elect to and retain in public office, irrespective of party ties, such men as fearlessly exercise the courage of their convictions in these matters, and to defeat all political cowards and demagogues who permit themselves to be used as tools with which to break down the institutions under which opportunities for the laborer of yesterday to become the well-to-do man of to-day and the wealthy and influential citizen of to-morrow have been so numerous in this country.
> If we would hand down to our children and to their children such golden opportunities as our fathers passed down to us, we must ever be watchful, ever ready with the machinery of properly equipped organization to meet any emergency which may be thrust upon us by a class of irresponsible men and political demagogues, whose personal interests are greater to them than the welfare of their country.
>
> And above all else, we must keep up a constant campaign of education along the lines of duty of the citizen with respect to the evils of guerrilla unionism and militant Socialism. If we do these things we shall have no difficulty in preserving to every man, woman, and child in this country the enjoyment of their right to peacefully go to and from their labors, and when they will, without interference on the part of any body of men who set themselves up as dictators above the law of God and man.

Mr. Kirby concludes by declaring that if we neglect these things our personal and property rights will be swallowed up and we shall have nothing left to hand down to posterity but a "scarlet empire."

TEXAS TAX ILLEGAL.

Supreme Court Makes Decision on Law Taxing Railroad Earnings.

WASHINGTON, May 18.—In deciding the case of the Galveston & San Antonio Railway Company vs. the State of Texas, involving taxes on that and other Texas roads, the Supreme Court of the United States to-day held to be unconstitutional the Texas law of 1905 fixing the tax rate on railroads equal to 1 per cent. on their gross earnings when they lie wholly within the State, and a proportionate sum when they lie partly within the State.

DRAW CURRENCY COMPROMISE

But Aldrich and Vreeland Plan May Be Thwarted by Representative Burton.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 18.—While no formal meeting of the Senate and House conferrees on the Currency bill was held to-day, Senator Aldrich and Representative Vreeland worked on a compromise that will be acceptable both to the House and to the Senate. The compromise probably will not be laid before the conference committee until the last moment, when a determined effort will be made to force it through. But Burton may fight the plan.

NEW YORK Catskill Mountains.

The Best Place to Spend Your Summer Vacation Is in the Historic, Picturesque, and Healthful

CATSKILL MOUNTAINS

The high altitude of this great mountain sanitarium, ranging from 2,000 to 4,000 feet above the sea, is an important factor in the selection of a Summer home.

In addition to the private parks there are over 1,000 hotels and boarding houses amid the green fields and towering crags in this country of scenic beauty and wildwood charms.

The Ulster & Delaware R.R.

offers superb train service without change of cars between Philadelphia, Jersey City, and New York and all points in this popular Summer resort.

The Rip Van Winkle Flyer, leaving New York, (42d St.,) via West Shore R. R., at 1 o'clock P. M., will make first trip May 23d.

The Summer time schedule for season of 1908 will go into effect Sunday, June 21.

The "Catskill Mountain Limited," composed exclusively of parlor cars with observation car, leaving New York on week days at 10 o'clock A. M., will be a popular feature of the service.

The West Shore R. R. will sell excursion tickets from New York and Brooklyn on May 29th and 30th, via Ulster & Delaware R. R., to all points in the Catskill Mountains, at one fare for round trip, giving an opportunity to select your Summer home or boarding place. These tickets will be good for return trip on any train up to midnight of June 1st inclusive.

An illustrated Summer Book, with map of the Catskills and list of hotels and boarding houses, will be sent free on receipt of 8 cents postage.

A Hint to Employers Requiring Help.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I inclose you a preface to a bulletin of the Department of Agriculture which states we have applications from 2,500 boys who are anxious to secure work for vacation and also your article of the fourteenth, which states that we are asking for 2,500 volunteers for "jobs." I answered all the personal calls and the telephone calls from volunteers on Wednesday, but when I came home on Wednesday to find a bag of mail I began to realize the enormous circulation of THE TIMES, and sought for volunteers to help me answer the pathetic letters which had been piled up around my study table. My assistants worked on the mail while I answered personal applications, and we succeeded in getting the work done toward midnight.

8 HURT IN WRECKS OF 3 AUTOMOBILES

One Girl's Nose and Jaw Broken as Father, Mother, and Aunt Are Injured.

ACCIDENTS IN WESTCHESTER

Second Machine Overturns Going Around a Curve and Another Crashes Into a Tree.

Special to The New York Times.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., May 18.—Three automobile accidents in Westchester County late Sunday night resulted in injury to eight persons, one of them seriously, and the wrecking of the three machines.

William R. Green, a shoe manufacturer of Hamilton Avenue, White Plains, was out in his machine with his family when the auto jumped over an eight-foot embankment while going past Ophir Farm, the country seat of Ambassador Whitelaw Reid, on the outskirts of White Plains, breaking the nose and jaw of Miss Marjorie Green, his daughter, and injuring Mr. and Mrs. Green and the latter's sister. Miss Green also suffered from internal injuries, and is now in the White Plains Hospital in a serious condition. The cause of the accident was due to the breaking of the steering gear. The three women were caught under the machine as it overturned. Mr. Green's chauffeur, H. C. Schuppert, also was slightly hurt.

A $6,000 automobile was wrecked while going around a curve on Quaker Ridge, between Mamaroneck and White Plains early in the morning. The car was driven by Frank Townsend, and with him were W. S. Allen of Tarrytown and F. E. Greer of Mount Vernon.

For three hours the automobilists wandered around the country roads in search of a house which had a telephone, and finally Allen and Greer reached White Plains Police Headquarters with Chauffeur Townsend missing.

After searching for an hour Townsend was found dazed. All of the injured went home.

Another large touring car was wrecked near Pound Ridge, but the occupants escaped unhurt. One of the tires collapsed and the car dashed into a tree.

PINNED UNDER HIS AUTO.

Man Hurt as Machine Goes Over Embankment Near Hackensack, N. J.

PATERSON, N. J., May 18.—One man was badly injured when an automobile ran down an embankment near Hackensack last night, and three others saved themselves by jumping from the machine. The injured man is Joseph T. Carroll, who is now at his home under a physician's care. William H. Kearns, well known in this city, was one of the men who jumped.

Last night the automobile party were near Hackensack, when two automobiles abreast came speeding along the road. To prevent a collision Mr. Carroll turned to one side, and the machine went over an embankment. Mr. Carroll remained in his seat and was badly injured when the automobile turned over and pinned him under it. The other three of the party ran to his assistance after they had picked themselves up and pulled him out.

TOURING CAR BURNS.

Cylinder Oil Ignites During Repairs at West Hampton, L. I.

WEST HAMPTON, L. I., May 18.—Four young men who had borrowed a touring car of a Mr. Schulz of New York were obliged to return to their city homes by train, as the machine was burned here. The occupants of the car registered at the hotel as Fred Barnett, Henry Lallan, Henry Lyoans, and L. R. Binin of Manhattan.

When the car suddenly stopped on Cook's Dam, and the young men attempted to repair it, the cylinder oil ignited. So rapidly did the flames spread that the machine could not be even dragged into the pond a dozen feet away. The car, which was wrecked, was valued at more than $5,000.

AUTO WRECKS THREE WAGONS

Two Drivers Go to Fordham Hospital—Police Search in Vain for Machine.

Driving along the Pelham Road at 2:15 yesterday morning, Joseph Thanon pulled his horse to one side when, at the west side of the Pelham Road bridge over the Bronx River he heard the toot of an automobile horn to the rear. Then he had a kaleidoscopic view of a big touring car containing four men and two women careering over his light wagon, while the horse sailed into the hedge and he himself seemed to be flying. The wagon was smashed to fragments, and in the road was strewn its cargo of bread. At Fordham Hospital it was found that Thanon had received one scalp wound, abrasions of the right arm and leg and both hands.

An hour and forty minutes later, the same automobile, returning to New York, hit John Pinchard of 224 Union Avenue, New Rochelle, driver of a milk wagon, at the same bridge. He, too, went to Fordham Hospital.

Twenty-five minutes after this, William Haydran of 1,842 Bathgate Avenue, the Bronx, was driving a milk wagon at Fort Schuyler Road and Appleton Road, when an automobile thought to have been the same that wrecked the other two wagons struck his horse and vehicle.

Patrolman Manning of the Westchester Station a few moments later narrowly escaped being run down by an auto. As he stepped out of the way the four men and two women in it laughed loudly. Manning thought the number of the auto was 22,370, N. Y. He figured it was going at the rate of fifty miles an hour.

He sent in an alarm, and the mounted and bicycle men of the Westchester police were turned out by Capt. Hays with instructions to capture the car. But the men could not find it.

W. K. VANDERBILT, JR., FINED.

Special Sessions Levies $15 Penalty on Him for Speeding His Auto.

With the alternative of spending three days in the Tombs, William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., was fined $15 yesterday in Special Sessions on the charge of speeding his automobile on March 8. He was represented by D. F. Cohalan, and took the stand to testify that he was certainly not going faster than seven miles an hour. He was sure of this, he said, as the day was Sunday, and he did not wish to disturb the people in church.

His chauffeur, Alfred Hummel, whom he was towing in a second machine, was fined $15 also. He paid the fine. Justice Zeller dissented from the other two Justices, and Mr. Cohalan said that the case would be appealed.

"If his name hadn't been Vanderbilt he would have been acquitted," said the lawyer.

The trial was a sort of appeal from the police court, where Mr. Vanderbilt was first arraigned before Magistrate Kernochan by Policeman Morison, who testified that he was running at the rate of thirty miles an hour.

On that occasion Mr. Vanderbilt marched up to the prisoners' bar and, grinning at Magistrate Kernochan, said: "Hullo, Freddie."

"Hullo, Willie," the Magistrate replied, and promptly discharged him. Policeman Morison appealed to Commissioner Bingham, who requested the District Attorney to take up the case. A warrant calling on Mr. Vanderbilt to appear in Special Sessions followed.

At the trial yesterday John F. Bradford, a broker, who said he was a good judge of speed from his fondness for driving, corroborated Mr. Vanderbilt's statement that he was running slowly. He was the only witness besides Morison and another policeman, who saw the chase down Madison Avenue.

CHILD KILLED IN AUTO.

Blanche Olmstead's Skull Fractured When Motor Cycle Hit Car.

Special to The New York Times.

STAMFORD, Conn., May 18.—Blanche Olmstead, 12 years old, stepdaughter of John Heywood of Mianus, died here this afternoon at the home of relatives from a fracture of the skull received in a motor-car accident yesterday. While motoring with Mr. and Mrs. William Scofield and their daughter, the car in which the little girl rode was run into by a motor cycle driven by a young man named Wood of Greenwich.

Blanche sat in the rear seat, and she was thrown forward so that her head hit the seat in front. Seemingly she was not hurt badly. About noon to-day she had a severe hemorrhage, and physicians decided there was a clot of blood on the brain. She died retaining consciousness to the last.

KINGDON GOULD HELD.

Must Stand Trial for Speeding His Auto—Late Getting to Court.

Kingdon Gould was arraigned before Magistrate Butts in the Harlem Court yesterday on the charge of speeding his automobile on Sunday. When the case was first called George W. Taylor of 43 Cedar Street, who was on hand to represent young Gould, explained that his client is a student at Columbia University and had to meet an important examination. For these reasons Mr. Taylor asked that the case be postponed.

"The defendant must be produced, or I shall forfeit his bail," said the Magistrate.

Then the lawyer asked if the case could not go on without Gould being present.

"I will give him until 12 o'clock to appear in this court, under pain of having his bail forfeited. And if he is not here at that time I will have him rearrested," replied Magistrate Butts.

After that Mr. Taylor had a conference with two young men, who immediately hurried out. It was just a few minutes before 12 o'clock when young Gould appeared, carrying several textbooks under his arm. He was held in $100 bail for trial.

Altogether, thirty-five persons were arraigned in the Harlem Court yesterday charged with violating the speed law in their automobiles. Four were discharged from custody. The others were held in $100 each for trial at Special Sessions.

BINGHAM LECTURES COONEY.

Commissioner Tells Captain to Go Out and Get Results.

Police Captain John Cooney, in charge of the East Sixty-seventh Street Station, was on trial before Police Commissioner Bingham at Headquarters yesterday on a charge of neglect of duty, the charge growing out of a raid on an alleged gambling house in East Fifty-ninth Street on March 17. The raid was made over Capt. Cooney's head by Central Office detectives, and six prisoners were taken.

No witnesses were heard at the trial, Capt. Cooney admitting he knew nothing of the raid until after it had been made. When Capt. Cooney had finished his story Commissioner Bingham said:

"What I want you to get and all the other Captains to get, Captain, is results. There are many things going on which the police cannot know of, I realize, but this thing of Police Captains sitting down and waiting for results to come to them instead of going out and getting them will not do. Every Police Captain should be mortified when a raid is made in his precinct over his head.

"I brought you here, not to break you but to hear your story regarding this raid. I want to say to you that you are just as safe with the present Police Commissioner as you would be with the Supreme Court if you are right. Your record is a fine one, and your work has been very good, but I want you and all other Captains to get out and get busy, and not let crooks do you. I will reserve decision."

BIBLE USED TO GET SLAYER'S CONFESSION

Detectives Say Zastera's Finger Mark on Psalm Led Him to Admit Killing Sheppards.

HIS FAMILY DOUBTS IT

Mother Says His Health Was Impaired by Work in the Art Students' League.

Additional details were obtained yesterday of the manner in which Supt. S. S. Cosgrove and Detective N. Sylvester of the Drummond Detective Agency got from Frank Zastera a confession that he had murdered William B. Sheppard, his wife, and their servant, Jennie Bendy, on the Sheppard farm near Matawan, N. J., on Saturday morning.

It was not until Zastera, with the blood-stained garments of his victims on and about him, had put his hand on an open Bible and then found blood marks on a verse applying to his case, that any impression was made on him.

Zastera had stuck to his original story of having gone into the house and discovered the bodies up to the time that he was taken to the Monmouth County jail at Freehold. He arrived there about 6 o'clock Saturday evening. Then, at the suggestion of Cosgrove, who had been summoned by the county officials, Zastera was put into a dark cell. There he was left for several hours.

Then he was taken into the office of the jail, where the two detectives and others questioned him. Even when the blood-stained garments were placed on him and about him he remained firm in his denial of any knowledge of the murder. Finally the vest that had been worn by Sheppard was put on him, in his left hand the skirt worn by the dead servant was placed, while he was told to lay his right hand upon a Bible that had been opened at random. He had already said that he was a Catholic. Cosgrove pointed out to him what would become of his soul according to Catholic teaching if he swore falsely. Zastera remained standing in this position for twenty minutes. Then he took a seat on a sofa, evidently in deep distress.

Cosgrove noticed that some of the blood from the servant's skirt which had got on his hand had marked a verse in the Bible. Looking at it closer, he saw three little smears of blood.

"There's blood on that verse," he said to Zastera, "and do you know what the verse is?"

He then read it to Zastera. It was the one hundred and ninth verse of the One Hundred and Nineteenth Psalm, which reads:

"My soul is continually in my hand, yet do I not forget Thy law."

"That applies to what I have told you about your soul," said Cosgrove.

The prisoner then read the verse for himself.

Then Mr. Cosgrove asked sharply:

"Weren't you in the parlor when Mrs. Sheppard came downstairs?"

"Yes, I was," said Zastera.

"And you killed her?"

"Yes," added Zastera barely above a whisper.

Then he told, say the detectives, how he had come into the house, got the repeating shotgun, and shot Mrs. Sheppard as she was returning from the kitchen to go upstairs. He shot her three times and then the husband twice as he came down the stairs. The servant girl he killed as he went into the woodshed, the detectives say.

The prisoner couldn't tell why he had done it. He kept pressing his fingers to his closed eyes as he told the story, as though it was hard for him to recall it. He said he had taken some money—he didn't know how much—from a wallet in Sheppard's pocket.

Assistant County Prosecutor Stokes and the detectives searched the Sheppard place thoroughly for the money Zastera says he hid after killing the three, but it was not found.

Zastera gave the name of Volman when he was hired by Sheppard. He said he had done this as that name was easier to pronounce than his own. In his clothing was found a letter, which Mrs. Ryan, Mrs. Sheppard's mother, had written to her daughter and given to Zastera to deliver when he was selected from fifteen applicants for the place on the Sheppard farm by Mrs. Ryan.

Zastera's father, a steam engineer, lives at 347 East Seventy-second Street. His daughter said there yesterday that the father had gone to Freehold to see his son. Both Zastera's sister and his mother said they did not believe he had killed any one. He only arrived at the farm late on Thursday.

"He was a very nervous boy," said the mother, "and the doctor told him to do farm work for his health. They might very easily scare him into making a confession. He had been a student in the National Academy of Design and the Art Students' League and had also attended art classes in Cooper Union. He was a leather designer when he was able to work indoors. He went to the De Witt Clinton High School before he began the art work.

"He was nervous once before, and last Summer he went to a farm near Branford, Conn. Sheppard called here and seemed pleased that he had got him." On his return home the father said that although his son had repeated his confession to him he did not believe it. He thinks the prisoner was coerced into making it. He says his son's mind has been weak since April, 1907, when he was bitten by a dog and treated at the Pasteur Institute.

Funeral services for the three victims will be held this morning in the Roman Catholic Church of St. John the Evangelist, Twenty-first Street, near Fifth Avenue, Brooklyn. The bodies of the couple are now at the home of Mrs. Shepherd's father, Patrick Ryan, a retired Lieutenant of Police, at 201 Eighteenth Street. The Rev. Thomas S. Duhigg, who married the pair, will officiate at the funeral. The murdered couple will be buried in the Cemetery of the Holy Cross.

MR. CLEVELAND IMPROVING.

New York Physicians No Longer to be in Regular Attendance.

A statement was given out here yesterday in behalf of Mrs. Grover Cleveland to the effect that the health of the former President has improved to such an extent that Dr. Bryant and his assistant have intrusted the care of Mr. Cleveland wholly to his family.

They have made no arrangements to return to Lakewood except at intervals, and then only to assure themselves that the improvement continues.

MISSING LIBRARIAN DROWNED IN CANAL

Miss Vanderbilt, Who Disappeared Five Days Ago, Supposed to Have Taken Her Own Life.

WENT TO MEET YOUNG MAN

Friends Say She Was Despondent Because Family Opposed Her Marriage in September.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., May 18.—Floating in the Raritan Canal below the Aqueduct here, the body of Bertha Vanderbilt, the young assistant in the University Library, missing since last Wednesday night, was found to-day by William Belke and J. Millwood Saltz, both of Trenton. The boys had been on a camping trip and were returning to Trenton by canoe.

The body was found floating near the shore about half a mile from the Aqueduct, where the girl is supposed to have slipped or thrown herself into the water. It was removed to the Princeton Morgue this afternoon by order of Dr. W. G. Chase of Princeton, an uncle of the dead girl, pending the arrival of Coroner Moke of Middlesex County.

Though many facts in the case seemed suspicious, Coroner Moke decided to hold neither an inquest nor an autopsy, and ordered the body sent to the home of the girl's father, A. R. Vanderbilt, at Amsterdam, N. Y.

Miss Vanderbilt left Princeton at about 5 o'clock Wednesday evening, wearing neither hat nor coat and carrying no money. She was to meet G. A. Dohm, a young man employed in Princeton, near the Aqueduct. She was seen there at about 5:30, but apparently Dohm failed to turn up. From the point where Miss Vanderbilt was last seen a short cut across the plank crossing the Aqueduct saves about half a mile in the walk to Princeton, and it was thought that in attempting to reach home by this route the girl slipped into the mill stream.

The stream and canal were fruitlessly dragged all Saturday and Sunday. It was then supposed that the girl's body had been swept under the water and entangled in the support of the canal bottom, and a diver arrived at Princeton this morning to explore the passage through which the water of the millstream flows into Carnegie Lake. He was ready to begin investigation when the finding of the body was reported.

The girl's body bore no marks of a struggle. There were scratches on the face and forehead, which might easily have been caused by contact with the bottom of the canal. The authorities think it was a case of suicide.

Mr. Vanderbilt believes that his daughter was accidentally drowned, although her friends say she seemed despondent on the evening before her disappearance. She was to have been married in September, and it is thought she was distressed at the opposition of her relatives to the match.

NEW WAR ON THE MOSQUITO.

Drs. Darlington and Doty Will Try to Wipe Out the Little Pest.

Under the personal supervision of Health Commissioner Darlington war has been renewed on the mosquito by the Department of Health. Dr. Darlington said yesterday that every precaution would be taken to prevent the breeding of mosquitoes in the city this Summer. All of their breeding places will be destroyed so far as the money at the disposal of the department will permit.

Commissioner Darlington expects in this way to lessen year by year the number of malarial cases in the city, as it has been practically established that the mosquito is responsible for the spread of this as well as other diseases. He spent the greater part of last Saturday inspecting the marshes at the head of Little Neck Bay, between Bayside and Douglas Manor, the swamps of Flushing and Queens, and the meadows about Dyker Beach Park, that he might see for himself the conditions existing there.

"These sections and Staten Island," Dr. Darlington said yesterday, "are the localities in the city which need attention first, though there is a small section immediately about Kingsbridge which needs attention and shall have it as soon as practicable."

Dr. Alvah H. Doty, health officer of the Port of New York, has made a special study of the mosquito, and has worked for several years for its extermination on Staten Island. In an article dealing with the subject, which was published yesterday in The New York State Journal of Medicine, Dr. Doty describes the work recently carried on in Staten Island and the unusual results obtained. Dr. Doty reported the details to the Department of Health, and an appropriation was obtained from the city to begin a campaign for the extermination of the pest on Staten Island. The first step will be the draining of the swamp land along the entire shore front.

HAS NEVER BEAT HIS HORSES.

So Dan Collier, Who Has Driven for 54 Years, Will Get a Silver Cup.

Entries for the work horse parade, which the humanely disposed women of this city have arranged for May 30, closed yesterday. Among the entries received in the veteran drivers' class was that of Daniel S. Collier, who for fifty-four years has been driving. The team he has entered is his own.

After a conference between Mrs. James Speyer and Thomas McCarthy, the most active of the workers for the success of the parade, it was decided to give Mr. Collier a special prize, and at a meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals a silver cup was agreed upon as an appropriate commemoration of this driver's kindliness and care. He never has used a whip on a horse in all the years of his experience.

In the old horse class the horses eligible must have been in service and owned and used by the same person, or his predecessor in the business, for not less than fifteen years. A large number of horses have been entered in the four divisions of this class.

TO TEACH PUPILS TO SWIM.

Two Lessons a Week Now Part of Public School Curriculum.

Swimming becomes this afternoon a part of the curriculum of the physical culture department of the public school system. From to-day on boys in this department will be taught to swim, dive, float, and finally life saving, at the Public Baths, Twenty-third Street and Avenue A, with Dr. C. Ward Crampton, one of the Assistant Supervisors, in charge. Two lessons will be given a week, on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons, between 3 and 5 o'clock.

Boys of one or more schools will be selected for each afternoon, those of Schools Nos. 19, 40, and 14 have been selected for the first lesson.

Those pupils attaining the highest degree of efficiency will be presented with medals by the Public School Athletic League on July 1.

Some of the applications received at the Department of Education from those who wish to teach swimming were interesting. One man wrote opposite the question "Academic training," "I saved a girl at Coney Island last Summer." He will probably get the job.
